EDITORIAL....

WILL THE LEAD INCREASE?

The opening of the Ontario Training School for Girls at Lindsay on Tuesday gave thousands of people their first glimpse of the make-up of one of those people that they saw and undoubtedly the last word in a house of correction but it is by no means the only institution serving this purpose.

There has been a need for such places over the years but we couldn't help wondering, as we thought about the new building at Lindsay to serve this need, if the need itself was not steadily certainly bound to increase unless we revise our way of life.

Thinking along this line was prompted by the fact that the school is designed primarily to look after children who, through no fault of their own, weren't properly looked after at home. Their training for life would be in various ways to the extent that they developed traits which weren't acceptable to society as a whole.

There is the necessity for these schools exists, and while it is interesting to note the progress which was made in the direction of rehabilitating youngsters who got off on the wrong foot in the time we took a good, long look at modern trends in family life. In our pursuit of the material things of life, have we not come dangerously close to being only neglecting our children but forsaking those who are in need of help? Have we been so concerned about acquiring that new tv, car or other "what-ifs" to observe what was happening to our children and ourselves? Those are the things we should ask ourselves every time a new training school opens, necessary as it may be, rather than putting ourselves on the back for seeing these youngsters are well cared for when they finally land in trouble.

We will need for training schools for boys and girls increase. Possibly unless those who are primarily responsible for shaping their lives take the responsibility more seriously. Neglect never brought out the best in anything yet.

Reports and Remarks...

BEAUTY SLEEPS - NOT AN OLD WIVES' TALE

In a recent "Science and Industry" programme in the BBC General Overseas Service, Tim Bowden interviewed William Bullock of Ribblesdale College, London University about the rhythms of the skin. Research has shown that all the upper layer of the skin is dead, and is constantly being replaced from the base underneath. The skin is replaced mainly while we are asleep—so there may be something in the time "Beauty sleep" after all. The reason why this happens when we are asleep is that the backdoor mechanism seems to lie in our adrenal glands; glands in the side of the back. When we are awake and active, our adrenal glands are active and the glands are active, and this activity stops skin replacement.

The test is important where the healing of wounds is concerned, as under excessive stress and worry the healing process slowed up. Medical experience has shown that after an operation the rate of wound-healing is quicker if a person is allowed to go home. Further research is being done in this field of skin growth, as it is thought that stress and worry could perhaps slow down the rate of growth in children. Experiments among rats show that it is so; rats used to a certain diet and their own particular cage, when given different foods and a constant change of home are retarded in their growth.—BBC London Letter.

Remember way back when

AUGUST 1, 1912

The County Engineer who was Bobagayson yesterday on county business, remained over at the request of the village council, and laid out a stretch of concrete sidewalk for the village. Bobagayson people are up to date in their tastes. They insist on having walks with straight curb lines and uniform grade lines. Lindsay might just up and take notice.

Trip to Cobcock

The steamer Lintonia will run an excursion to Cobcock tomorrow. The boat leaves Lindsay at 9:30 a.m. Five 50 cents. This trip affords a delightful outing.

Chemong Regatta

The Chemong Outboarders' Association decided at a well attended meeting to hold this year's regatta on August 22nd.

AUGUST 1, 1937

The Haliburton-Wilberforce Highway has reached the point where an extra shift has been added. The men commenced the night work recently and will work mostly on the drill. Above the old Dover Hill there is quite a lot of rock and stone and the process is slow due to the extra shift. The new road is a great improvement and will help the business, the wood business and the tourist trade as the new highway takes out many hills and curves.

REFRIGERATION NOT RECOMMENDED

"Those are red. Vines are blue. Tomatoes are red. And good for you."

Somewhat rhymes like this one often stick with us long after straight memorized facts have fled our minds. The key, though there, of course, is that "tomatoes are good for you."

Canada's Food Guide recommends that each person eat daily two servings of fruit or juice, including a satisfactory source of Vitamin C, such as tomatoes or vitaminized apple.

Food experts at Macdonald Institute, Guelph, remind that tomatoes are one vegetable that shouldn't be refrigerated. When green, tomatoes should be held at temperatures not lower than 55°F. And use immediately on ripening. If one boy or girl tomatoes when they're ripe, keep them at that temperature of 45°F. or higher.

Serve estimated 6,000 visitors at training school opening

An estimated 6,000 visitors lived in cities and are not aware of the beauty of the countryside," she explained. The five girls who have been the school for the past month, were taken on a picnic and to a movie during the opening day functions. Miss Muler stated.

The occasion will be the 19th annual trophy race organized by the Sports Car Club of Ontario to President. The day's programme, scheduled to get underway at 11:00 a.m., will consist of nine events for all classes. Time trials and practice runs will be held on Friday, August 17th from 11:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. with a 12 lap movie race at 6:30 p.m. The championship event of the meet will be the final race of 30 laps around the tricky 2.4-mile Mosport circuit. The starter's flag for this feature is scheduled to drop at 5:30 p.m. and as many entries as 27 are expected to compete.

"The crush of people was even greater in the evening with the peak hours being between seven and eight. Tours were conducted by the staff of the school assisted by the Co-ordinator and Bownessville staff the staff at Millbrook Reformatory took care of the parking, a chef from Millbrook assisted the two school cooks and a large number of head office staff from Toronto assisted in the serving.

"Two hundred and thirty gallons of coffee were consumed at the school assisted by the Co-ordinator and Bownessville staff the staff at Millbrook Reformatory took care of the parking, a chef from Millbrook assisted the two school cooks and a large number of head office staff from Toronto assisted in the serving.

"The visitors seemed to be very happy and pleased with what they saw and were very cooperative and patient in enduring the great crush. I wish to commend the public for their patience," she said.

Miss Muler expressed the opinion that the 125 girls eventually to be housed there would appreciate and enjoy among the excellent facilities of the school, the wide expanse of its rural setting. "Most of these girls from 12 to 16 have

Savoury Salmon Crunch Cups

OFF-BEAT HEAT BEATER

The language purist and cook who goes by the book might not consider today's unusual recipe a salad in the strict sense, for some stories relating the derivation of the word is the belief that salads get their name from the ancient Roman habit of dipping chicken and other meats in salt to make them tastier. Since "salt" is the Latin word for salt, the combination came to be known as salad. All this may well be true, but well worth for Savory Salmon Salad Crunch Cups as amongst the tastiest and most attractive of all the salads under the sun, despite the fact that they are "greenless".

The unique use of crunchy toast crumbs, subtly seasoned with celery seeds, sets the salad apart. It wins particularly high approval with males who like their salads on the substantial side. The fact that popular canned salmon is the feature increases its appeal, particularly when sweet mustard, apple and chopped red cauliflower provide delicate and slightly off-beat accents of flavor and texture. Dressing Savory Salmon Salad Crunch Cups will doubtlessly become a favorite with the family and friends who share in its tastiness.

Ingredients:
8 thin slices white bread, crusts removed, Soft butter; 1 teaspoonful seed; 2 cups canned salmon (1, 1-pound can); 1/3 cup finely chopped celery; 1/3 cup crisp, raw cauliflowers, broken up; tablespoons chopped mince; 1/2 cup mayonnaise; 1/2 cup chopped sweet mixed mustard; pickle, salt and pepper to taste; Potatoe strips. Lightly spread both sides of bread with soft butter. Press into muffin tins, letting corners protrude slightly. Sprinkle inside with celery seeds. Toast in preheated slow oven (300 deg. F.) until crisp, about 1 hour. Cool to room temperature before filling. For salad mixture, mix together thoroughly the salmon, celery, cauliflower, chopped mince, mayonnaise and pickle. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Chill thoroughly. Just before serving, fill cooked Crunch Cups with salad mixture. Garnish with mince strips. Allow two per serving. Makes 12 salad cups, or 4 servings. — Consumer Trends Recipe Book, leased Through Fisheries Association of B.C.

Lindsay Masons at Fenelon Falls visitors night

The annual visitor's night was observed by Spry Lodge, O.P. and A.M. at Fenelon Falls with a number of Lindsay Masons in attendance. The visitors also included a number of American citizens who are summering in the district. Rt. — Wm. Chas. Heale, historian for Lindsay Masonic lodge, was called on for a few remarks and in reply briefly outlined the history of Spry Lodge. Many years ago, he stated, Masons from Lindsay and Fenelon Falls exchanged visits and in the winter months the journey was made by horse and sleigh using the ice on Sugar River.

Mary McCovrie honored prior to marriage

A beautiful shover of attractive things for a home, was tendered to Miss Mary McCovrie in the school room of the church.

She was ushered to a beautifully decorated platform by a bevy of school friends and neighbors, while Mrs. Grant Ferguson accompanied them to the wedding March at the piano.

A very appropriate address was read by Miss Donna Teal, while Mary was assisted with the gifts by Mrs. Joan Wilson, of Manilla, Misses Joanne Webdale, Dorothy Dawson and Donna Teal.

At the Hudson Bay Co. provide furnished homes for the north country, the many gifts consisted of things which would not likely be provided but would add a personal touch to the home. Also assisting was Mrs. Earl Manley. Mary thanked all who had prepared the shower and all who had given such beautiful gifts. She invited any who wished to come to see her home in the church.

Mrs. Frank Rice, asked for a solo from Bonnie Ferguson who accompanied by her mother, sang "Love Me Tender" with an encore. Mrs. Rice gave a reading "Her Announcement," Susanne Webster gave a piano solo and Jane Webster accompanied by her sister Sharon sang "Some Enchanted Evening."

Candy was passed and a social time enjoyed. A few of those attending from outside town were Mrs. Bruce Chelmsford and Marilyn, Mrs. Jack Hallowell, Dorothy Dawson, of Lindsay; Miss Kathleen Hicks, Miss Minnie Anderson, Donna Teal of Toronto, Mrs. Jack Hicks, of Peterboro, Mrs. C. Hallett, of Sarnia; Mrs. Joan Wilson of Manilla.

Open House held for visitors

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cummings held open house in honor of Mrs. Cummings's sister, Mrs. ATKINSON, of Belfast, and her cousin, Mrs. Alexander Field, of Colliad, Northern Ireland.

More than 100 Canadian friends came to welcome them.

A linen damask cloth brought from Ireland many years ago was on the tea table and an interesting item was the hand-carved shillelagh brought by the guests as a gift to Mr. Cummings.

Assisting were Mrs. Horace W. Hill, Mrs. James Brooks, Miss Judy Abbott, of Lindsay; Mrs. (Rev.) R. S. Mansfield and other ladies from Peterborough and Burlington, Ontario. Mrs. Atkinson were an Irish handkerchief, linen house and Mrs. Field's fish with print dress. Each had a corsage of pink carnations.

Surprise guest of the evening was Miss Elsie Moore, also from Belfast, who is visiting her sister Mrs. John Scott in Ormeau at the same time.

The ever-increasing range of new types of penicillin being used in Britain, and the related cephalosporins produced at Oxford University, all owe their existence to the late Sir Alexander Fleming. He noticed that mould growing in a dish killed bacteria around it. He isolated the material produced by the mould, naming it penicillin.

Where bacteria are plentiful, a single cut such as this man has given himself frequently becomes infected.

Instead of the flesh healing, bacteria find their way into the wound and set up disease like yaws.

Because the development of penicillin, treatment was very slow and difficult. Today injections, ointments and pills make penicillin readily available to combat a wide range of diseases. A man once doomed to years of suffering, can now expect to be fit and well in a short time.

MANY WILL BE UNABLE TO ATTEND

Regardless of how any public function is arranged, there inevitably are suggestions forthcoming as to how to do it better. One such suggestion is that any change would do little to better the situation but has been a suggestion made in connection with the forthcoming annual meeting of the Ontario Association of Girl Scouts. It has some merit. It is the effect that it would be better held in the evening as opposed to the planned afternoon. The reason for this is that the girls do not normally like to visit the school, (perhaps the only opportunity they will have because it will not ordinarily be open to the public) will be unable to do so because they will be working.

It is probably too late to do anything about changing the time of the school's official opening ceremony because the school has already been opened. However, in the future, ever, the thought arises that an extension of the "open-to-house" visitation hours might be made without incurring excessive money. The thought is that it would be worth those who otherwise would be denied the privilege.

LET'S SEE AUSTERITY APPLIED AT ALL LEVELS . . .

Word from OILAWA to the effect that civil servants in Canada are not getting an anticipated salary increase places the responsibility for this on the government and to practice austerity. We believe most people including civil servants are willing to go along with the program if they could see austerity applied at all levels of government.

Austerity who has ever heard anything to do with the government (federal or provincial) is actually aware of the mass of red tape they have to cut through to get to what they want. It is a waste of time and money through this tape costs time and money, private and public. It would be profitable to visit the remains of the public sector government and see what is possible. An impartial expertise expert such as those hired by industries concerned with making ends meet.

Something of a lot of what is said about it also result if the public could get an inside look at what really happens to their dollar at various government levels. A lot of what is said about it is a waste of time and money through this tape costs time and money, private and public. It would be profitable to visit the remains of the public sector government and see what is possible. An impartial expertise expert such as those hired by industries concerned with making ends meet.

Every week, for example, thousands of dollars worth of government-financed propaganda flows over the air in the name of the news. This is prepared by at great cost by government agencies and is disseminated through their own propaganda rather than let the people people serve it for themselves. Practically every major government branch or agency puts out a periodical of some kind, many of which are really either "staff" organs and contribute not a thing of value to the province or country.

Austerity, yes, if necessary, but let's first make 'elimination of waste motion' the slogan. When the need for this is taken into account, then the need to be expected to take the need for austerity in their own lives seriously.

TRAFFIC SIGNALS FOR KENT-BERTMONT

Recently a number of accidents have been reached in the long standing proposal that traffic signals be installed at Kent and Albert Streets. . . The study made by the Ontario Traffic Institute suggests there is a need for such regulations at this intersection. It is a need those who will disagree with their findings on the need for such regulations at this intersection. It is a need those who will disagree with their findings on the need for such regulations at this intersection. It is a need those who will disagree with their findings on the need for such regulations at this intersection.

When the Arsenal was running at full tilt, the need for traffic regulation at Kent and Albert was more apparent than it is today and an effort was required on point day here at peak travel hours. The point of contact was made by the Ontario Traffic Institute, a group around Loblaws' Groceries and anyone observing passing traffic tends to cross the street in that vicinity must be aware of the need for some protective device. At the moment it is touch and go with the possibility getting little or no consideration from the motorizing public.

A similar situation prevails on Queen Street where a number of accidents have occurred. The need for traffic regulation at Kent and Albert was more apparent than it is today and an effort was required on point day here at peak travel hours. The point of contact was made by the Ontario Traffic Institute, a group around Loblaws' Groceries and anyone observing passing traffic tends to cross the street in that vicinity must be aware of the need for some protective device. At the moment it is touch and go with the possibility getting little or no consideration from the motorizing public.

Much of the hassle to get someone in, (and out of) Lindsay is really a figment of the imagination. How many times have you seen a driver take off in a furiously fast car, only to find out later that it was just a car and look of great urgency in his eyes, only to be seen a few minutes later parked a short distance away?

To make the best use of the time and money at its own conclusions as to where it wishes to install traffic signals? Who is more competent to appraise the situation, who has lived here for a long time and is familiar with it or people who come for a brief inspection?

WHY NOT DRAMATISE THEM MORE?

After every serious highway accident all haste possible is taken to clear away the wreckage and get things back to normal. It is almost as if the wreckage itself is being made to avoid letting motorists know of the facts of driving without proper care.

What would be wrong with dramatizing the horrible Ontario accident incidence more in the hope that it might cause people into being careful? Instead of clearing away wreckage, why not leave it as long as possible as it was found, use dummies to replace the human wreckage, post adequate warning signs at the dangerous highway traffic. Travellers would have a first-hand look at what happens when two vehicles make contact.

It would be a pretty sight but accidents would never be as many and many would be saved. There are trying to hammer (not very successfully) into the minds of the car driver. Maybe if more could see, more would drive.

No swimmer should ever embark in a small boat without wearing a life jacket of an appropriate type, and no one should venture far from shore without one. ### HYDROSTATIC TRANSMISSION FOR CARS

Hydrostatic engineers have developed the world's first fully hydraulic transmission for cars. It is a gearbox, clutch or differential. The functions of clutch and gearbox are combined in a single pedal which, when rocked forward with the foot, shifts the car into gear. When rocked back with the heel, sends the car into reverse.

The normal gas engine has been retained as prime mover: this engine drives a high pressure oil pump placed between the gearbox used to be. Oil from the pump is carried through piping to the gearbox to drive two hydrostatic motors mounted in the truck.

Speed of the car is controlled by adjusting the speed of the two hydrostatic motors. The car is a gearbox, clutch or differential. The functions of clutch and gearbox are combined in a single pedal which, when rocked forward with the foot, shifts the car into gear. When rocked back with the heel, sends the car into reverse.

Donald Phipps, head of Britain's National Engineering Laboratory, at East Kilbride, Scotland, says that the "hydrostatic drive may become a standard possibility for cars as few as three years."

$35,000 expenditure transforms

St Andrew's church school

An expenditure of around $35,000 has transformed St. here.

Andrew's Church school into a place of beauty and efficiency. The extra space and adequacy thus provided has to be seen to be fully realized. Chairman of the Building Committee H. H. McCadden proudly conducted "The Post" through the renovated building this morning.

The ground floor auditorium with a length of over 60 feet and a width of nearly 50 feet has been provided by the removal of classrooms, balcony, stage library, etc. The resulting accommodation is completely adequate for the holding of banquets, meetings and church conferences. It will also provide recreational facilities for the ladies of the parish.

The kitchen in connection is the last word in modernism and both are done in an attractive color scheme of beige, white and grey. Tiled floors are featured throughout.

A third floor was made possible by the removal of the balcony and here the primary and intermediate classrooms of the Sunday School are found.

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, perhaps some who received tuition in the old Sunday School, will be interested.

Remembering that St. Andrew's Church and Sunday School is now second to none in town, Chairman McPadden states the minister and whole congregation are usually proud of this seat of Christian worship and education.

Reached by both back and front hall staircases with wrought iron and wooden railings are four classrooms, an assembly room, library, two washrooms and a large nursery all with an appealing decor of

Severely disabled people get new lease on life

Reeve says study now being made

Hopes for a sewer to serve the southeast section of Lindsay are given a new lease on life at last week's Kinross City meeting.

Interest regarding the South Ward sewage problem recently discussed at a health board meeting and published in "The Post," was brought to the attention of the Kinross City members at their regular luncheon.

Kinrossian Norm. Siskin asked for a clearer explanation regarding the problem.

Reeve said he invited to the meeting along with other councillors to answer questions of the matter, stated that the Council was giving serious consideration to the sewer.

Reeve said he was not sure that something had to be done, and that it was recognized that the sewer was needed.

Litterally aching

"Now, don't pay for a cabin until we get a look at it. Hank! simply refuse to sleep in a dirty room," says Mrs. Torvick.

Her husband turns the car into the motel driveway. Downy children outside on the back seat, while mother, who the clerk to the cabin for a check on beds and bath before did is allowed to sign the register.

A meticulous woman like Mrs. Torvick, this one changes as soon as the car turns out of the driveway. And with a cross-room start such as this it's easy to understand why the litter accumulation has grown until it is a problem of national proportions. More over, it's both an urban and rural problem.

Refuse on beaches, parks and recreation areas or thrown into lakes and streams, can become a breeding ground for disease - carrying insects and bacteria which only pollute lakes and rivers.

In an age of disposability when everything is thrown away it is scarcely strange that the train seat where it will be trampled all over, is flung and blown down the aisle. Guided by these examples, Mrs. Torvick and the same litter-bappy trail dropping canisters (wipers and popcans) are seen.

Laundry bids are discussed by governors

Two bids regarding new equipment for the hospital laundry were discussed at the regular board meeting last night.

Canada Laundry Machine Co. and Dale Ltd., both of Toronto had submitted bids on supplying and installing the modern washer - dryer, a set of approximately $25,000.

A detailed description was given by one of the companies which stressed the need of special equipment they could provide to prevent excessive vibration.

The laundry room, being located over one of the boiler rooms, presented a problem for the heavy equipment.

It was pointed out that it was weighing up to six tons and braces would have to be installed for over three years to support the weight, said the administrator.

Freeman told the members that the laundry manager and one of the engineers had visited one of the hospitals in the area.

He said that the hospital was using such equipment, and had been assured that it had been used for over three years now and had not shifted on its base.

It was decided to have the manager and engineer check other hospitals and laundries who were using the equipment, one night at Port York.

"They seem to be a good reliable company," remarked a member of the board.

"How many men will it replace?" Member Stan Pitts asked.

"A full time man, and some of the time help," answered Administrator Freeman.

"We feel it will save us up to $8,000 a year, what with maintenance, etc.," he added.

Will try to cut lumber exports to United States

President Kennedy will seek negotiations with Canada designed to reduce Canadian lumber exports to the U.S.

Kennedy said in Washington recently the initiation of such negotiations is one of the steps in a program to help the U.S. west coast lumber industry overcome its competitive position.

The broad outlines of the program were outlined at a meeting with members of Congress from Washington State, Oregon, California, Idaho, Montana and Alaska.

Washington Senator Warren Hearnes said Kennedy has already taken steps to name a negotiating committee to meet with Canadian representatives in the near future.

He said that the depressed lumber industry cannot compete with the U.S. west coast markets. This is mainly because of lower prices on foreign exports offered by B-C lumber producers.

WHAT TO DO ABOUT

HYPERCHOLESTEROLEMIA

Here's a tongue-twister for you: hypercholesterolemia, which means above normal amount of cholesterol in the blood—above 220-250. But patients are prone to sit easily as appendicitis (which probably was considered a vector of sorts in its own day). A common story goes like this: A man decided to go to his doctor for a physical check-up, although he feels perfectly healthy. During the course of the examination the doctor, though it hasn't yet been determined, finally marked guilty as to what shall the patient do. Electrocardiograms, X rays and all other examinations are negative. Shall he forget a bout the abnormal reading or do something about it?

I think that while he is about it, he should try to track it down. Is there a history of vascular accidents in the family? Like coronary disease, stroke, kidney disease? How about hypertension, in which there is a tendency to "run in the family"? Do others in the family have high readings? Is there a history of diabetes?

If all there are negative, tell him there is no immediate concern to do anything about the cholesterol, except keep his weight normal and come in for periodic checkups and cholesterol readings. Otherwise he can go along and live normally. But if the history-taking uncovers any suspicious suspect, then there is something to think it advisable to take early precautions to build off athero-sclerosis, with which cholesterol seems to be tied in—although it hasn't yet been determined, finally marked guilty as to what shall the patient do. Electrocardiograms, X rays and all other examinations are negative. Shall he forget a bout the abnormal reading or do something about it?

century. Then to top it off tell him to stop worrying about his cholesterol level. That, in itself, might keep it higher than normal.

For Mrs. R.: It is true that the cure for some sick headaches is the menopause. Probably it has something to do with the altered function of the pituitary gland of other glands of internal secretion. I recently asked a 50-year-old woman who now lives in an "other state." Are you still having the terrible headaches you used to have so frequently since you were a young girl? She said, "I haven't had one since my periods stopped when I was 45." I was glad to hear it, because when she was under 40, I had tried everything I knew or had heard about without any success. She had been a neurologist and many other men without being helped. All could say was "good old mother nature."

For Mr. D.: I really know no special diet that is guaranteed to prevent the recurrence of attacks of gout. About the best procedure is cutting down on fat, and to live as sedentary as possible. Regularly drugs like Benemid

WONDERS of NATURE

Couple fed by Seagrave community

Miss Marie Cough, who professed life in Ontario to that of a Mother-Craft-Nurse in Hollywood, really knew who she liked this area better, when the Seagrave community held a shower in the Sunday School room for her. She is to marry Harold Medd, of Blackstock, in Seagrave Church in the near future.

Mr. Roy Scott is master of ceremonies and handled the job in his usual, jovial manner. Being Tax Assessor Roy is acquainted with everyone and told several amusing incidents that had occurred when on his yearly round. One of these was about the groom-to-be.

After some community singing, with Mrs. J. Tobin at the piano, Marie and Harold were called to the decorated seats of honor and Roy read an address in the form of a very humorous poem composed by Mrs. Elsie Clements. These poems are one of the highlights of these events.

Marion McMillan and Brenda MacGrady assisted the bride and groom in opening the beautifully wrapped gifts and

WINKLE TREATMENT

Dear Dr. Steinhorn: I have always been proud of my looks. Lately I have noticed that I am getting wrinkles. As I am only in my early forties, I believe in taking steps to prevent my face from looking like my grandmother's. I have been hearing of this new chemical treatment to remove wrinkles. Should I take a chance—Mrs. R.

Comment: That's just what you will be doing—taking a chance. This treatment of applying chemicals and acids, is a delicate procedure even in the hands of trained dermatologists. It was perfected I'd say ago. But it is only in its experimental stages.

Yet, I have been receiving letters like yours, from women who have been promised a magical transformation by many medically untrained persons who are hoping on the bandwagon in the use of these wrinkle removers. Don't fall for their promises. All they would not hesitate to tell you is your money they are not responsible scientifically. And all you may be getting out of it is severe facial scars that leave you much worse off, and less beautiful than you were.

Dear Dr. Steinhorn: My grandchild is going on six and is the ragoon-toddler, her right foot is worse than her left. When she was younger a doctor said she would grow out of it. We haven't been to one since, because she is otherwise fine, a very healthy child. To me it seems to be getting worse, but I don't want to be a meddling mother-in-law. I would like to see her grow up pigulogate. Is there anything that can be done—Mrs. M.

Comment: In addition to their many other good attributes (although standard jokes don't seem to agree) mothers-in-law often serve a very useful purpose in sticking a pin into a complaint parent who isn't listening. But let me issue this warning, before we get into the area of wholesale advice. I would not hesitate to tell you that the little girl is not responsible scientifically. And all you may be getting out of it is severe facial scars that leave you much worse off, and less beautiful than you were.

your grandchild. I am not being critical or hard about it, Mrs. R. My purpose is to shock you into sensibility.

Dear Dr. Steinhorn: For about 10 years I had severe headaches. The top of my head seemed to be on fire. Several doctors were visited but I received no help. I tried another who suggested X-rays on my teeth. They showed that an eye tooth had grown up into the roof of my mouth. Upon extraction my headache disappeared and I haven't had one in 28 years—Mrs. G.

Comment: A friend of mine told me that an extraction of "wrongway" molar did the same for him. I have seen a number of cases that were similar. But let me issue this warning, before we get into the area of wholesale advice. I would not hesitate to tell you that the little girl is not responsible scientifically. And all you may be getting out of it is severe facial scars that leave you much worse off, and less beautiful than you were.

PLEASANT POINT

Reporting good catches. Noted vocalist to sing.

Fishing is reported to be the point this season was the good on Sturgeon Lake and summer residents here are receiving a fair share of the finest piscatorial specimen, D. Christmas, proprietor of The Inn had a number of guests, some of them from across the U.S. border and they have been quite fortunate in catching and handling.

Announcement has been made of the coming visit to the United Church at Pleasant Point of the Canadian vocalist Joyce Sullivan, a soloist well known across Canada. The date August 19th. The service will mark the 40th anniversary of the Pleasant Point Church.

Among the summer residents at the Point is Mr. Alex Crate and family, of Toronto, who are occupying the Hayes cottage. Mr. Crate wells the hydro summer residents and visitors to The Point to four. The three other hydro officials include Commissioners George Baldwin and Brown and Lindsay, and Boyd Graham, editor of the Ontario Farmer, who frequently visits with his mother, Mrs. F. W. Bruce.

Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Price and family spent the weekend with Mrs. Price's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ford Morvies. The family returned to Ottawa on Sunday afternoon.

In making the announcements at the Union Church service last Sunday reference was made to the passing of two former members, namely the late Herb Kennedy and the late Mrs. L. Morgan.

Well water tested at the Point resulted in a score of "A1". There are four good open wells at the resort.

At Weirs Don Rennie and Steve Conway of the Brake Block Company, Detroit, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gerrard Connolly. The brief visit was enjoyed and Don Rennie, former manager of Dominion Brakebrake in Lindsay, met a number of former acquaintances.

The largest bass to be caught by the resort fishermen at 40 lbs. was taken by Mr. and Mrs. Gerrard Connolly.

By Peter J. Steincrohn, M.D., F.A.C.P.

CHRONIC APPENDICITIS

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: In year 1922 a doctor made a diagnosis of appendicitis and advised operation. I refused at the time as he said it wasn't an acute appendix, but a chronic inflammation. Now I am 68 and not feeling well. I have many headaches, and can't take milk, fruits, and sauerkraut. I drink a small amount of grape juice. I am sure to get a bad headache. Could my appendix be the cause? I have no pain on the right side, but do have gas and constipation. —Mr. R. K.

Comment: Years ago doctors advised appendectomy for chronic appendicitis. Often they made this diagnosis if large, long appendix was visualized by X ray. Many of us now believe that chronic appendicitis is a rare bird — either the appendix is acutely inflamed, and should be taken out immediately to prevent peritonitis, or should be left alone.

In your case, almost 40 years without any subsequent acute inflammation, indicates that your appendix has been innocent. Chances are it is now too thick, it becomes inflamed, I think you can forget it. Unless you can't control it, we may have surgery.

about the need for operation, and for your present symptoms. I doubt that there is any connection with your appendix. Rather than guess, why not check with your doctor, who may find some other remedial cause for your headache and food sensitivity.

HYPERTHYROIDISM

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Two years ago I had my first bout with a hyperthyroid condition. It was corrected after one year of medication with propylthiouracil. It remained inactive for nearly one year and now has flared up again.

I am being urged to use radioactive iodine to correct this problem, but am hesitant to use it. I am a mother of 2 and have three young children. I feel I'm in no position to take a chance on this form of treatment, particularly since the doctors cannot assure me that it will accomplish the desired result, or that I may eventually need surgery again.

Hyperthyroidism seems to run in our family. My father and his brothers have been subject to it and have been relieved by surgery. Wouldn't it be wiser to have surgery?

now and be finished with it?

—Mrs. T.

Comment: As the choice of procedure depends upon careful study and evaluation of each patient, you can understand why I can't give you a definite answer. I have seen many patients read like you have to propylthiouracil. At first it seems to be the answer.

And a simple one. But like you, in time its effectiveness may decrease, and the thyroid becomes overactive again. In such cases I have advised thyrotoxicity, and the operation has often solved the problem.

If you are in good physical condition, and there are no contraindications, my own feeling is that operation would now be the treatment of choice. However, some doctors have had good results with radioactive iodine; while others think it is too difficult to control proper dosage. I know I'm blemishing and having — but you'll have to read between the lines to get the answer.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I don't understand too much about the "change" but will answer this: If a woman has not menstruated for 13 years for most music camps and are normally applied to tuition, room and board. Financial aid can be obtained also from local community groups that recognize the educational and social values of summer study.

Comment: Unlike the previous answer when I had to hedge, I can unequivocally answer: no, there is no chance of pregnancy.

Richard Wolf, assistant professor of music at the University of Wisconsin, Summer Music Clinic, reports that "we have had as many as 75 per cent coming to study on scholarships supplied by town organizations and schools."

45,000 youngsters attend music camps

More than 45,000 youngsters include music instruction for adults and preteens. Scholarships are available.

are piping hotter than Pan this summer — at music camps, clinics and schools in every state of the United States. And they are setting a new record for summer music camps at the same time.

According to a survey by the American Music Conference, more youngsters are combining summer vacations and self-made music than ever before. Summer music-study enrollment is now 350 per cent greater than in 1950, and more than two-thirds of the nation's 150 summer music camps have been organized since 1950.

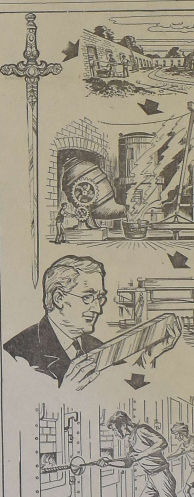

Some new camps are growing as fast or faster than those established 20 and 40 years ago, according to the survey. Enrollment at the Lake Tahoe Music Camp at the University of Nevada has zoomed from 33 to more than 900 students since 1957. The University of Illinois Summer Music Program has grown from 150 students in 1950 to an anticipated 1,200 this season.

Approximately 70 per cent of music camps surveyed plan to expand enrollments, facilities and facilities, primarily increasing types of music study available. Of the 134 summer music camps surveyed, 111 now provide school orchestra training, 91 provide band training, and 46 now include stage, or jazz, band instruction. The latter is particularly significant, for a decade ago stage bands were virtually nonexistent.

According to Martin Egbert, educational consultant for AMC, the main reason for summer music-study expansion is the unusual growth of instrumental music programs in school systems. School-age musicians have increased more than 300 per cent since 1947.

Dr. Gilbert Stephenson, head of Summer Music Clinic Workshop at Ohio University, adds that increased enrollments in summer music classes are due to "greatly improved high school music programs and a desire on the part of many youngsters to grow and develop in a cultural way."

Most summer music students are teenagers, with 82 per cent of total enrollment being in the 14-18 age bracket. However, an increasing number of summer programs

The story of steel

UK Information Service

In the Middle Ages the famed Damascus steel swords were fashioned from iron ore brought from beyond the Himalayas.

Production of iron in quantity began in England when Abraham Darby pioneered coke for smelting in 1780, in furnaces like those illustrated at the top of the panel. In 1856, Henry Bessemer revolutionized industry with his famous process for the conversion of cast iron into steel.

Britain's research workers have also made outstanding contributions to the development of high grade alloy steels—Harry Brearley (seen in his factory developed stainless steel. Extra hard and tough steel, including special steel for nuclear reactors, and the first plastic-coated steels have been made in Britain, where new methods and processes are constantly under development.

This vast accumulation of inventiveness and know-how has enabled the British steel industry to excel in establishing steel plants in various Commonwealth countries.

GLAUCOMA

Dear Dr. Steinhorn: I read the letter in your column regarding glaucoma and noted that the businessman who wrote it was having trouble finding his eyes examined a few months ago. The doctor told me I had glaucoma in my left eye, but didn't mention any treatments. Lately I have been having headaches on the left side and wonder whether or not there are due to my eye trouble. What do you advise?

— Mr. W.

Glaucoma is it almost inconceivable that a doctor would make this diagnosis and not advise treatment. Some- where there must have been a misreading. For once the diagnosis of glaucoma is made immediate treatment is imperative. The type of management (medical or surgical) depends upon the individual case.

I'd suggest that you see an eye specialist immediately, for a checkup on your diagnosis and treatment. I'm sure your doctor won't mind you already feel a few months of your valuable time. Increasing intraocular pressure (within the eyeball) produces blurry vision.

If his pain is due to bursitis, first thing you know he will have a "frozen joint" even he able to lift his arm if all you are doing for it is applying heat. Ultrasound therapy is approved procedure when indicated. In many cases it has helped him when other treatments (X-ray, cortisone injections, etc.) have failed. But don't just any machine give the

Survey of feeding habits shows weeds, pests eaten

A scientific study has re- stored some portion to the tar- nished condition of Manitoba blackbirds.

It concluded that large flocks of blackbirds in the fields near the southern end of Lake Manitoba and near Altona are good for the community even for the damage some farm crops.

The study involved shooting 500 blackbirds from the time the flocks arrived in May until they left in October. The birds were shot at fortnightly intervals in May until their stomach contents exam- ined to determine what they were eating.

Dr. Bird learned that in May and June their food is mostly waste grain and sunflower seeds and weed seeds.

Young Live in Insects

The shotgun is not as effective as the 22 rifle and more expensive. A man shooting from the top of a truck or some other elevation can drop a bullet anywhere in a field where the flock settles, keeps them on the move. The noise of the bullet frightens them more than a report of a distant shotgun.

A combination of all three types of shooting devices is very effective.

THE WELL-THINKING ANKLE: But not for the ankle that grew up with the well-thought ankle. But not for the ankle that grew up with the well-thought ankle.

Wobbling ankles ruin the look of the legs and the grace of a walk. They can also pain, sprain, or even the muscles, set in the feet and legs but also in the back. So, if you have a wobbly ankle, it's time to get it fixed. The only place to go is to the edge of the ankle, the rest — you're a wobbler for sure.

Remedial measures follow: 1. Give your feet and ankles a good workout by walking on sand, grass, and a rubber mat. 2. When walking, don't strain the muscles of the ankle. 3. When walking, don't strain the muscles of the ankle. 4. When walking, don't strain the muscles of the ankle.

When you have mastered the movement, your ankles and muscles grow stronger. Then you can even a skater's heel, which changes you.

Mrs. Jane Earle

Mrs. Jane Earle, 80, widow of the late Dr. George Earle, passed away at Guelph on Friday, July 27th.

The former Jane Belle Potts daughter of the late Samuel and Margaret Potts, was born and educated in Adrian, Michigan, and taught in school before her marriage in July 1910.

She had resided in Omemee 25 years.

She was a charter member of Eastern Star Lodge, Lindsay, and a past Worthy Matron of the Shrine of the Goddess of the East in Omemee. Her hobbies were reading and flowers.

She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Wendell McNevin (Jane) of Guelph, and four grandchildren.

She was predeceased by her son, Dr. William Earle three weeks ago and her husband seven years ago.

Funeral service was held from the residence of her daughter-in-law on July 30th, with Rev. Kenneth Crawford of Trinity United Church conducting the service. A large assembly of citizens from Omemee and Emily paid their respects to a family who had ministered to the needs of hundreds of rural folk over a period of many years.

Pallbearers were Albert Carroll, David Deyell, Charles Stephenson, Harry Jackson, Hillard Williamson, Cairns

Interment in the family plot at Emily Cemetery.

It seems to me the doctors would be well advised to put in their own private parking lots here and I think the chief of police might indicate this to them."

Councillor Payne observed that snow in the winter made a traffic problem at this point and said he noticed in other communities parking was disallowed on both sides of streets.

"The Department of Transport survey recommends no parking here. Parking presents a serious and expensive problem which we have got to wake up and face. There are dozens of other places in town such as near the Cambridge Street parking, where parking creates a hazard."

United Church, where parking creates a hazard, is not easy to pass in winter on Bond St. between William and Victoria Ave."

Council decided the police chief should study this matter as to whether parking should be prohibited on one or both sides of the street here.

Councillor Haffner: "The area mentioned on Bond St. as a hazard was from William to Cambridge St. not the church area. Bell Telephone employees are parking their cars on the street and not using the company lot."

It was decided to try parking on one side of Albert St. one block north and south of Kent, to see if the traffic hazard was relieved there.

Murray got the surprise of his life and other fishermen in the area said they had never seen a fish like it. Looking it up in a fish reference book, Murray says he found out the Long-nosed Gar is really a throw-back from the Dinosaur age. It existed when most of the fish known today where unheard of. It grows to a length of five feet and is a relative of the Alligator-Gar, native to southern waters which grows to a length of 12 feet. He took some pictures of his catch and these will appear in a subsequent edition of "The Post".

A telephone call this morning from an unknown person is also related to nature in some respects. According to the caller, a person who is all for preventing forest fires isn't so sure they shouldn't now concentrate on preventing trailer fires. It seems the party in question tossed a cigarette out of a car window and accidentally set a trailer on fire.

The last item in this budget is by no means least and certainly not in the eyes of this boy who made it possible.

Parking one side only anti-hazard ruling

Parking will be allowed on one side only of Albert St. from Russell to Peel St. This was the decision of Lindsay's Council Tuesday to relieve traffic hazard by double parking in this area.

It was moved by police committee chairman Robert Payne that parking be prohibited on both sides of Albert St. from Russell to Peel St., pending a survey of this area by the Department of Transport to the need of traffic lights at the Kent St. intersection. Prohibitive parking would take care of traffic hazard before it is a street widening is made, he said.

Councillor Les Neil stated that there were four factors in that vicinity and he would assume Mr. Payne's motion by suggesting parking be allowed on one side of the block north and south of Kent St.

SEVERE STORM LIES DALRYMPLE

Dalrymple (PNS) — A severe electrical storm struck last Saturday night. The lightning was off for several hours and many homes were hit. The only home which received much damage was that of Mr. and Mrs. S. Fox, where lightning did damage to several electrical outlets and started a fire at the phone when the wires became to burn. Luckily they were at home and quickly extinguished the blaze. Tiles on the floor were lifted and other lesser damage done. Mr. Art Gault also had a motor in his main counter put out of commission as well as some books blown out.

Return petition for revision

A petition for the paving of the street and installation of sidewalks on the south side of Regent St. from Albert to Adelaide will be sent back to the petitioners for revision. It was pointed out at the first August meeting of Town Council that each project required a separate petition and that the former petition was insufficiently signed.

Clerk Bates stated three names of property owners on the north side were needed for the road paving.

The Commission says the test was carried out in the Northern Russian test site.

The British Government has issued a lengthy progress report on Common Market negotiations to date... indicating that France is the main block to British entry. The report says general agreement was reached that Commonwealth countries could have associate membership in the Common Market. # "Odd Man In" funny farce at Red Barn

Starting next Tuesday, the Red Barn Theatre in Jackson's Park will present another uproarious comedy, ODD MAN IN, by Robin Maugham. The play is a fast and funny farce about a wife, a husband and a total stranger. The opening scene finds the wife about to retire with a sleeping draught. While she is momentarily out of the room, a stranger enters and uses the telephone and summons an automobile mechanic. He absent-mindedly drinks a glass of water containing a second sleeping draught, and falls unconscious onto the bed. The wife returns, turns back the covers on the bed, thereby hiding the stranger, and crawls sleepily into the bed. Enter the husband... and commence three acts of hilarity.

Irena Mayeska returns to the Red Barn for her third season to play the role of the wife. Miss Mayeska is frequently seen on C.B.C. television, and just been cast in a forthcoming Walt Disney film.

Canada's Young Musicians Delight Symphonic World National Youth Orchestra in Summer Session

One hundred talented, young musicians are spending their summer vacations hard at work with Canada's National Youth Orchestra. From across the nation they are assembling in Toronto for 10 days of rehearsal prior to giving concerts in Buffalo, New York (August 15), St. Catharines, Ontario (August 16), and at Stratford's summer festival (August 19). Now in its third year, the National Youth Orchestra Association of Canada was initiated in 1960 by Walter Susskind, internationally famous conductor, who had previous experience with Great Britain's National Youth Orchestra. To qualify, members must be between 14 and 22 years, have proven musical talent. Through the National Youth Orchestra, young Canadian musicians learn to play in a symphony orchestra under professional conditions, thus assuring a supply of first-class instrumentalists for tomorrow's national symphony orchestras. Already, after sparkling concerts in three past sessions, they have won the acclamation of music critics in Toronto, Montreal, Ottawa and Stratford, have learned to share their art under the baton's magic influence, have captivated music lovers with their youthful, eager and polished performances. Playing under such well-known conductors as Wilfrid Pelletier and Victor Feldbrill, they have demonstrated that young people can bring a refreshing breeze of excitement and vitality to the sophisticated world of serious music, promise a bright future for Canada's symphony orchestras.

Marlene Elizabeth Sedgwick wed in St. John's Church, Guelph

St. John's Anglican Church, Guelph, was decorated with gladioli and Shasta daisies on July 21, 1982 at 4 p.m. for the wedding of Marlene Elizabeth Sedgwick of Guelph and Ronald Robert McEwain, also of Guelph. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Sedgwick and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McEwain. All reside in Guelph.

Rev. Thos. Gracie officiated. The bridesmaids were Betty Ramm of Hildburghurst and she sang "O Perfect Love" and "The Wedding Prayer." She was accompanied by Bill Giddons, also of Hildburghurst.

Gives in marriage by her father, the bride looked charming in a model design princess style gown of blue net over satin. The bouffant skirt featured inserts of net on the sides and the blue bolero had long lace-trimmed sleeves. Her matching headpiece held her elbow-length veil and she carried a bouquet of red Tea roses and stephanotis.

The matron-of-honor was Mrs. Ruth Sedgwick, sister-in-law of the bride and daughter of the bride's mother, Margaret McEwain of Guelph. The matron-of-honor was

CLEANING UP THE TRIDENT SYSTEM

People have been hearing and reading a lot about the $120,000 long range program to renovate the Trent Canal System and it is evident from impromptu, "shop talk" undertakes or completed that the scenic water route will be greatly improved. This is especially true from the standpoint of package facilities and grounds improvement around lockage points.

People in this particular area have also been hearing and reading quite a lot about another side of travel on the Trent System in the immediate vicinity of Lindsay, Ont. . . . About bustians running off of logs in the upper reaches of the Scugog River. In one instance, a package manufacturer was so startled all night as a result of seeing a submerged log.

Obviously there is no use 'fancying up' the surroundings by accumulating masses of the system's users, nor assured of relatively hazard-free boating from the standpoint of submerged obstacles. Mayor Joseph Holton of Lindsay has been the recipient of treacherous letters by the attention of the riding's member of parliament, Mr. C.W. Hodgson. We wish them success in their efforts to get something done about removing the hidden obstacles along the waterway.

DEFER DECISION . . .

Lindsay's Planning Board has deferred its decision on the making of a request for rezoning half a block on the west side of Victoria Ave. between Peel and Wellington Sts. The deferment came after hearing protests by several people in the immediate vicinity and presentation of a petition.

Perhaps the most surprising development of the public hearing, called to get an expression of opinion on the rezoning issue which followed a property located at the Donuts store on the north corner of Peel and Victoria, was the absence of the owner of the property. This confronted the Planning Board with a solid opposing front by the residents by the means who proposed to develop the site . . . If there were those, others than the developer who favored the rezoning and locating of a Donuts store on the site, they were conspicuous by their absence.

While a deferment was made in deciding the issue, it would be surprising if nothing was done in the near future to go contrary to the expressed wishes of the area residents who appeared before them in protest . . . The public hearing ended their protest and the rezoning of the area from the standpoint of the town's people.

AN OPEN INVITATION . . .

The past weekend saw a farrow of breakins and thefts in this district with loss of cash in varying amounts. This sort of thing happens every so often and there is apparently little that can be done to prevent the breakins as such . . . These characters choose those moments to break in about their nefarious business.

Leaving any sizeable amount of cash around the house is a place of invitation to the thieves and an invitation to 'come and steal it'. However, as has been pointed out by those who follow up these petty thefts, the thieves are not interested in the real objective of the intruders . . . They are looking for more cash to use than and more likely take the cash as a bribe investigation. They are not interested in the money as they are in bank books, specimen jars, and blank cheques used by the individual or business, the objects being used to the jackpot through robbery.

Instead of the thief which occurred every week, the weekend should serve to alert the victims to the possibility of attempted robbery and, even if it is shown that the thief was not the sole motive, it should be a warning to put cash and valuable papers in a place not easily accessible to thieves hands.

COUNCIL TO BE CONGRATULATED

The Town Council of the Township Council is to be congratulated for successfully keeping open to the public a beautiful stretch of beach along Twelve Mile Creek. The forty spot of beach is open to the public under pressure from adjacent cottages along the beach. They would like to see it closed but scores of people who cannot afford a cottage but who also like to enjoy the beauty of the highland lake, would not permit it.

It is unfortunate that in many areas local councils have yielded to pressure and what was once public beach property has quietly been privately owned. This is a pity. The province and some counties moved to shut this trend to some degree by establishing public parks and, much as many people enjoy them, they are not very often wished to be quite so 'public' . . . They just want to be able to go down to the water's edge along lakes that appear to be a bit of a picnic and a swim.

According to permanent residents in the Twelve-Mile Lake area, it is extremely difficult if much of the waterfront land which has 'private' sign posted on it is really private. They claim that legislation years ago was to protect the rights of loggers, and still on the books, reserves for public use land 66 feet back from the high water line. The lakes are not to be used for log drives. In view of this, it is entirely possible that some of the land claimed as private property is not private at all.

However, the object of these observations is not to encourage dispute over property titles but merely to stress the pleasure the public derives from open stretches of beach and to urge municipal officials in our lake country to preserve these areas for public use and protect those already existing.

Tractor snags groundhog hole, boy, 9, thrown, injured

Sunderland (PNS) — A serious accident occurred at the home of the recently arrived son of a town, when his son, Teddy, aged about 9 years, was run over by a tractor, the driver of which was his father, Ralph, and his brother, John. Teddy and Johnny failed were condition is much improved.

GENERALLY BUOYANT

ONTARIO — Retail trade generally continued buoyant. Sales in urban areas, particularly in department stores and shopping plazas were good. However, business in some rural areas and small towns was not so encouraging. Wholesale trade was steady and normal for the season. Collections were slow to good depending upon local conditions. Steel production continued at a high level. Output in the automobile plant at about 90 per cent capacity. Automotive plants continued very busy with some overtime being worked. Manufacturing activity in general accelerated and production of furniture, textiles, clothing, footwear, wood and paper products, printing and publishing products, aluminum and steel was good. Sales were increasing and manufacturers of electric appliances and supplies reported business was well maintained. There was a complete lull in the summer construction projects underway. Unemployment was at 28.5 per cent lower than a year ago. Good stands of timber have been reported, while lumber will be beneficial, a satisfactory crop is forecast. — B. of M. Review.

LEARNING TO READ BY TELEVISION

One of the most striking examples of the educative power of television has been provided by Italy. A scheme for teaching illiterates, launched in 1960 under the title 'Non E' Mai Troppo Tardi' (It's Never Too Late!), Joan Pyper outlined it briefly in a recent edition of 'The Farming View' program broadcast each week in the BBC General Overseas Service. In 1960, she said, there were two million total illiterates in Italy, for the most part farm workers living in the south and in isolated communities on the islands. The Italian Education Authorities decided to tackle the problem by a television series. The series consisted of teaching them to read by television. The new programme was designed to reach those people in their own villages and in their own homes. The programme was designed to be a going back to school in their own villages.

Over two thousand viewing posts were set up in village halls, bars, and taverns with sufficient accommodation. Then a qualified teacher was put in charge of each post to give on-the-spot help and encourage advance. Nobody forgot that the pupils lived from the land, so lessons were held only in the evenings and only when November and winter months were over. The plan succeeded brilliantly. Of the 45,000 who finished the course 77 per cent passed their examinations. Success was similar in 1961. The programme was for those who wished to advance beyond the three 'R's'. Now there is to be a third, even more advanced.

The idea need not be confined to teaching illiterates, Joan Pyper pointed out. It could be extended to cover subjects like domestic science, hygiene, or improved methods of farming. — BBC London Bulletin.

LITTLE PROGRESS IN THIS AREA

There has been little progress in the past few years of scientific miracles that promise to revolutionize our pattern of living. The march of science has been slow and steady.

Satellites probing outer space are now a commonplace. Chemists are unlocking unexplored secrets of the atom. Astronauts are exploring the universe. Engineers are making giant leaps in rocket technology. In sight. Medical science is winning battles against age-old enemies, and man's span of life lengthens steadily.

But there are some areas where civilization is making little or no progress. One of these is in the operation of the motor vehicle, although without much modern civilization would be impossible.

In the first six months of 1962 the number of traffic accidents in Ontario (42,458) was down from the first half of 1961. The number of deaths decreased a corresponding 9.9%, to 7,139. Injuries decreased 0.6%, from 524,520. The only significant improvement was in the number of pedestrians killed: 128 this year Jan. to June, a decrease of 8.5% from last year's 139. During the year the number of drivers and vehicles registered has risen 2.5% and 2.7% respectively.

The mass total of death, misery and economic destruction caused by traffic collisions is a staggering catastrophe. And the essence of the tragedy is the fact that it was not all avoidable. Because most of all the accidents were due to human failure, and could have been avoided by the exercise of additional care and patience on the part of the pedestrian.

The world of tomorrow should be rich with the treasures uncovered by scientific progress. But, unless the standards of driver and pedestrian responsibility can be developed by education, or enforced by law, civilization will continue to be impoverished by the tragedies and destructions attendant on the mile-of our streets and highways.

—Ontario Safety League

TRAFFIC DEATHS: LET'S GET TOUGH

When we slaughter thirty, fifty or more valuable, warlike, and innocent citizens every week and children are killed, it is not only a tragedy, it is a crime. On our highways each week, and many more, less than one, it is customary to devote Monday to dropping out of the highways and to the police for sale driving. Before setting back to the everyday traffic, let us ask, what else can you do? That's the way it has been for every weekend of every summer for almost as long as we can remember.

But the fact is, something can be done. We have proved that certain steps can be taken to bring about drastic reductions in the number of deaths and injuries. The sword most likely to defeat the man with the scythe has two edges: one is 'Vicious enforcement of the law' and the other is 'Lenient enforcement of the law'. Sentences and lengthy permit suspensions or even cancellations.

The sword is not just side issue. When tough police men combine with tough magistrates . . . when enforcement is known to be swift, sure, and stunning in its severity . . . accidents by drivers who actually cease. Only one fact and demands remain, if they can be done.

Reports and Remarks...

Now if we know this to be so, and we do, then there must be some kind of an act which we can describe as a neglect which results in death.

Let us ask a brutal question: When we neglect to take dangerous drivers off the road permanently, or at least drive them a bit, and let them bring them to the street, how far are we going from criminal negligence? The Criminal Code of 1953 says: "Everyone is criminally negligent who is in a position to prevent an accident to anything that it is his duty to do, who omits to do anything for the lives or safety of other persons." For the purpose of this section, duty means a duty imposed by law.

For some reason we have been relating a "get tough" attitude. There seems to be a national belief that a man who aims a gun should go to jail, but it is all right to let a man who aims a car off with a light fine. We believe it is not crick to let a police officer to a marked car. Speed traps are actually the subject of indictments to the press. We feel rightfully entitled to drive up to 2 m.p.h. over the posted speed limit. And magistrates who have the good sense to impose severe penalties are compared to the "hanging judges" of the old West.

Who are we kidding? Driving illegally is not a game to be played with the law, like buying an illicit sweepstakes ticket or over-parking. It is a deadly Russian roulette, played with other lives as well as our own.

Let us now abandon all hope regarding the effectiveness of Ontario's armchair editorializing about "the other fellow's" bad driving habits, atrocious though it may be. The clowns, the snarls, the goats, the half-wits and the drunks who cause so many of today's accidents don't have the common sense to do what is safe driving abides. It is now time to face the fact that, when lives are at stake, the law must take over. Appeals are just don't work.

Let us put the case to our police and to our magistrates. Let us ask our municipal and provincial governments to urge those within their jurisdiction to take steps we know can reduce the toll. Let us ask our radio and TV stations and newspapers to support an active campaign to bring about broad public support of the law and its enforcement in this vital area. Let us ask our lawyers writing in the Journal.

FAIR FROM GOOD

The most recent official statistics of Canada's population provides confirmation of a continuing decline in the rate of increase. The population has grown by over 250,000 people during the past year, but the total of 1961 was 24,800,000, an increase of less than one per cent, the lowest such since 1946. This far-from-good news is attributable to a slow-down in the rate of natural increase. With a new birth per 1,000 of population, a pronounced fall in the number of new immigrants, and a simultaneous rise in the number of deaths, residents leaving this country for the U.S. and elsewhere.

The slowdown in our still relatively high birth-rate may reverse itself in the not-too-distant future as the new babies reach marriageable age in growing numbers. At the same time, as the number of new arrivals and departures are concerned, however.

Last year's total of 71,689 new immigrants was the lowest in more than a decade, but all the signs point to it being a low point. The number of new arrivals, suffering an outflow between 40,000 and 50,000 people each year, a high proportion of them possessing skills and qualifications badly needed in this country.

Just quite suitable for a mid summer supper.

FISH STICK QUALITIES
Spicy preparation and convenience don't necessarily good taste nor attractive appearance in a dish.

The increasing popularity of fish sticks is due to the fact that they have always enjoyed a wide appeal - namely sandwiches.

They are easy to assemble and the variety of fillings introduced is literally almost limitless. In observation of Sandwich Day, the Fisheries Council of Canada passes down into each good commercial product two teaspoons lemon juice, two tablespoons finely chopped onions, one teaspoon minced onion, and if desired two tablespoons finely chopped stuffed shells.

NOTICED... along the way

About the only thing that hasn't changed places around Lindsay's Town Hall since the renovation project was started is the location of the farm market. It has been "business as usual" throughout. Although it has been on the receiving end of little or no publicity for months, the market continues to attract many buyers of produce and handicrafts each Saturday morning. Top picture shows Ed Parrs of Milbrook whose variety of wares from vegetables to flowers are the most popular at a stall weekly. In the picture below, Mrs. Thos. Teaton, of Lindsay, who specializes in handicrafts — knitted and crocheted articles, offers her wares.

Car depends on fan belt

Few motorists in Canada care for a spare fan belt, but more and more cars are crisscrossed with broken fan belts are turning up. The fan belt is found by the engine. When finding a new belt when the old one gives away isn't always the best idea.

Carry a spare fan belt. It is the advice of the Council and the Ontario Automobile Association. It can save time, money and inconvenience. They estimate $2.50 for an average car.

High heels can kill!

"My foot slipped off the brake pedal" was the only excuse offered by a young woman whose car killed a young bystander. On her way to a luncheon, she was apparently driven, right down to her smooth-soled, high-heeled shoes. Had she taken the old-fashioned precaution of changing to shoes with non-skid or ridged sole she should have been driving.

Three shoes on the seat beside the driver or in the glove compartment allow a quick change of destination. Those few seconds could mean a lifetime for someone else.

Camping in Canada Up Tenfold in 10 Years By Lake and Stream the Campfires Glow

Watkins Lakes National Park, Alberta, offers rocky camping with swimming pool, horseback riding, Rocky Mountain scenery.

In British Columbia, baby gets a first taste of camping. In national parks camping has increased 10 times in a many years.

More than a million back-to-nature Canadians are taking camping vacations this summer. Some will explore inland areas, portage their canoe, camp where silent trees grow tall. Most will travel family style, stopping at established campsites in every province, using Canada's national and provincial parks. Canada's parkland — $9,000 square miles and equal in size to Great Britain — is a safe place for scenic beauty, natural grandeur. In the family car, campers can travel highways, adventure along existing woodland trails, come to rest in cool clearings amid scenic pine and whispering birch. On lake shores, by stream banks, in inland forests and by the sea, holidaying campers pick tents, cook outdoor meals, breathe the fresh air and solitude that beckoned their forefathers a century ago.

Quebec vacationers revel in fresh air, water, summer sunshine. From Newfoundland to the Yukon, 100,000 Canadians will "get back to nature" on camping holidays.

For adventurous campers there are wilderness byways to be explored, long canoe routes to paddle.

Sunset over Prince Edward Island beach is signal for tent lights to go on as campers relax after day of touring.

STOP!... killing yourself

ANXIETY

Dear Dr. Steinerhorn: Please Help me. I am 50 years of age and not 1 step young. I have lost interest in everything and I feel a stranger to myself. I can't remember or concentrate any more. I am very easily emotional, frightened to be myself and also when I am with people. I feel alone in a crowd.

As a cure, you may advise me to help others, which I have tried to do. I have helped in my church and told my clergymen that I was going in myself. He told me it is a cross God gave me to bear. What can I do? I am a person of health so it seems silly for me to go to a doctor. I am tired all the time I feel like I never finish it. I force myself to do my housework, ironing, shopping.

My husband also says it is silly to go to a doctor when I have no physical complaints. He says time will cure all. What do you think? I will be grateful for any suggestions. — Mrs. V.

culty. I can give you only generalized advice because I don't know the source of your troubles. Many people like yourself - and your husband - feel silly going to a doctor because the complaints aren't serious.

Such thinking makes for thousands of unhappy people who I might be helped if they went for medical advice.

If I knew you were going through the menopause, I might make some specific suggestions. If I knew you were suffering from chronic anxiety, I'd probably tell you to try something else, if the cause turned out to be a secondary anemia or a lay theory, I would be better off than I am.

I hope you can see how important it is to get medical attention rather than to guess, and just hope that "time will take care of it." You have tried, your husband has tried, perhaps friends also have given advice at long last but have given you a doctor's chance.

THE WONDER OF MODERN SURGERY

One evening last week, after dinner at the home of friends, I met an internist from Chicago. As so often happens, when doctors get together, we were soon hunched over in shop talk. Each of us, having been in practice over 25 years, recalled the advances in diagnosis and treatment that medicine had made: electrocardiogram, in heart management, antibiotics, in the treatment of infections, and many more. Nervousness, although being internists, we did not forget the tremendous improvements and innovations in modern surgery.

We were both aware of the operations for removal of an entire lung, the skill with which heart surgeons repair heart valves, with which they replace damaged arteries and have you heard of the recent work in brain surgery in which they're now putting a plastic jacket around aneurysms?" he said.

I had just read about it in the Journal of the American Medical Association. I think it will interest you, too. The hope is to have the life work came out of the Institute. The doctors who issued this of Medical Research and the recent report of their work, decided to reinforce the thinned out artery by applying around the weak artery some plastic material which hardened with minutes of application. They reported three patients upon which this procedure was used. Let me summarize Case No. 3.

A 43-year-old woman experienced sharp pain in the back of the head and neck while driving. This was relieved by dull, aching discomfort. By the following morning stiffness and aching extended down her entire back. She began to have other symptoms of weakness. A lumbar puncture showed gross bloody fluid. An angiography showed that she had a large aneurysm in an artery of the brain. Using the new method of hypothermia cooling, in this instance the brain they operated and applied the plastic material which formed a protective sheath within a few minutes.

The patient had an uneventful, post-operative course, within two months the returned to her normal living routine. She is a college professor. The daring inventiveness of

Estimated 300 youngsters at 'playground picnic'

An estimated 300 children had a picnic this afternoon right here in Lindsay. They flocked to Victoria Park to take part in a season's end get-together climaxing the activities of the town's five playgrounds.

The program, starting at 2 p.m., featured games and races arranged by playground supervisors, assisted by members of the recreation commission.

Chocolate milk and ice cream were provided at tables during the activities and the afternoon sports are long large foot to be entered in the picnic.

The senior boys' final softball game between Alexandra and Kinsmen parks will be played following the picnic supper. Then joint playground activities will be concentrated on putting finishing touches on the afternoon sports, which will be climaxed by a giant picnic supper at 8:30 p.m.

British bells ring round the world

A set of ten bells, the largest weighing 18 cwt., was receiving a final tune-up in a U.K. trial last week before being shipped in September to the chapel at America's exclusive Groton School in Massachusetts, where President Kennedy studied for a time.

With completion of the order at the Whitechapel Bell Foundry, established in London's East End since 1570, casting will begin on another tenbell set which will be hung next year in the belfry of A.S.A.'s famed Washington Cathedral, under construction since 1907.

"British bells are in great demand in America because there is no belting family there," says Mr. A. A. Hughes, managing director of the firm.

Since World War II, when Americans became interested in bellfaring, there has been a growing call for British musical handbells. Sets of between 20 and 60 bells are dispatched at the rate of one a week, but despite this we have a two years' waiting list. Whitechapel bells include the most famous in the world: in London, Big Ben, St. Paul's Big Tom, Bow Bells, Westminster Abbey, the "Oranges and Lemons" bells at St. Clement Church, also Liverpool Cathedral. America's Liberty Bell was originally cast at Whitechapel in 1753. On July 4, 1776, it proclaimed the Declaration of Independence.

Bells made by the ancient firm from copper and tin, proportioned to maintain the famed British "tonal" quality are cast in moulds after the alloy has been heated to well over 1,600 degrees Centigrade. In addition to bells for churches, chapels, monasteries, schools and clocks, they are also cast for fire engines, ships, buoys, sheep and cattle.

POST-FLIGHT EXAMINATION

Russia's newly-launched astronauts are getting extensive post-flight physical examinations this morning. Five hours after astronauts Andrian Nikolayev and Pavel Popovich returned to earth the official TASS News Agency announced both spacemen "feel well and their physical state . . . is good." Tests the two spacemen are now undergoing will give Soviet scientists an indication as to how well humans can withstand the rigors of weightlessness over a prolonged period. Premier Khrushchev will interpret a vacation on the Black Sea to welcome the astronauts home. The ceremony is expected to take place Friday in Moscow's Red Square in one of the largest of all Soviet celebrations. There the two astronauts will stand atop Lenin's tomb to receive the acclaim of the Russian people for their globe-harried space triumph.

LAND IN PRESCRIBED AREA

Soviet news media say the two astronauts landed in the prohibited area after completing all phases of their journey. For the first time the Soviets announced the landing area was south of the town of Karaganda in the southern Soviet Republic of Kazakhstan. Nikolayev brought his Vostok Three spacecraft back to earth at 2:35 (EDT) this morning, after circling the globe for nearly four full days. His companion reached down just six minutes later after a flight lasting almost three complete days. Soviet scientists say the flight opened the way for the establishment of way stations in space that will serve as bases from which future astronauts will take off for the moon . . . possibly before other astronauts around the world predicted the dual flight at the stage for future rendezvous between two or more space ships . . . if Nikolayev and Popovich themselves had not accomplished one.

PRISONERS TO BE RELEASED

The Pro-Communist Deputy Premier of Laos has announced that an unspecified number of American prisoners being held by the Communist forces will be released Friday. Prince Souphanouvong said the prisoners have now arrived at the Plain of Jars and will be brought to Vientiane by Friday. Five Americans and one Filipino are known to be in Communist hands.

URGES SOVIET UNION

Canada has urged the Soviet Union to clarify its position on international on-site inspection under a nuclear test ban treaty. Chief Canadian delegate General B.L.M. Poma said in Geneva today that a "specific statement" by the Soviets on this question could do a great deal to break the deadlock following last week's rejection of the revised American proposals.

REFUSES AID

The City of Vancouver has refused emergency aid to about 30 members of the Sons of Freedom Doukhobors (Praternal Council) who say they are stranded in Vancouver. A city welfare official says Provincial Welfare Minister Westley Clark ordered the refusal yesterday. A government officer—understandably—to pay their transportation back to the Kootenays Region of British Columbia has refused.

Ten torrid innings fail to separate tied teams

Ten torrid innings failed to Williams put them in gear in separate Canadian Tires and the fourth when he doubled, Walt De-Nuts at Victoria Park last night. At the end of ten frames the teams were tied 1-1. Williams, who had been hit at one run each, and one fielded to the pitching was just as close as the game's scoreline. Murray Woods for Walt's and Craig Case for Canadian Tire were even at twelve strikeouts and strikeout number ten by each. Case struck Woods in the hip department holding the De-Nuts in five safeties while he and his mates collected eight hits off Woods. Each pitcher walked one batter.

Walt's opened the scoring in the fourth inning when Jack Williams doubled and scored on Ted Campbell's two-out single. Canadian Tire failed to get a run until the eighth inning when Don Jackett batted a homer to deep left center. Canadian Tire had bunched on second and third with only one out in both the fourth and eighth innings. Both times failed to crack Murray Woods' goose egg. Walt's failed to get a runner past second base with the exception of Jack Williams scoring off Craig. Canadian Tire left nine runners on the base paths and Walt's left five. Each team was charged with two errors, none being expensive.

For Canadian Tire, in the first inning with one out, Ken Jackett singled his way to second when his safety to center was booted. Brother Don singled him to third, but in the field out, and a bust to right put out the fire. In the second Ted Richard drew their only walk and two sacrifices moved him to third only to have the next batter ground out to first. Canadian Tire batters were retired in order in the third and fourth innings. Case singled in the fifth with two out and was forced at second by Pogue's bounce to short. Don Jackett and Paul Ashmore repeated their first inning effort after Ken Jackett fanned in the sixth but a foul to first and a strikeout ended the rally. Andy Bashley opened the seventh with a single but was left on second on a pop foul to first, a foul hunt on third strike, and an infield out. Woods struck out the side in the eighth, but a home run blast by Don Jackett and a walk to Ashmore after the out set got one in and left one on. Dave Wainman's single in the ninth was wasted between a strike out and a fly to right and a liner to third.

In the tenth the C.T.C. batters again went down in order. For Walt's after retiring in order in the first inning, they wanted a two-out single in the second and third frames. Jack

AS PREDICTED...

When the devaluation of the Canadian dollar was announced several weeks ago, it was predicted that the cost of living would increase. Those who made the prediction probably didn't expect that new record high cost of living index figures would be published soon, that fact notwithstanding the story, nevertheless shows that things are going about as predicted.

It is significant to note in analyzing the further upward trend in living costs, the life greatest impact has been in that area which affects everyone, the basic requisite of living itself—food. It is difficult for most people to understand how we live in a country of abundance, one in which we produce so much of so many things that the government pays producers subsidies because they are prohibited by the law of supply and demand from making it unprofitable for them to produce many things. If we had suffered long periods of drought, crop failures, extensive cattlebats in livestock production and so forth, the cost of most essential foods would have been a bit for justification.

As we have often pointed out, these repeated increases in the cost of living cannot be absorbed by a large percentage of the nation's people without hardship. Those who are in a position to adjust their incomes to meet the demands made upon them are able to cope with the situation, albeit not in the most satisfactory way. That increasingly large portion of our population which lives on fixed incomes, (arriving from investments, pensions, etc.) has no recourse at all.

Shouldn't soaring prices in the basic essentials of life be suspect when we are talking about "basic materials"? Many of our people are beginning to wonder if they aren't "over a barrel" when it comes to food... They can't do without it and if they want it, there's nothing to do but pay the price, no matter how high. What do you think?

IN RATHER AN AWKWARD POSITION

Lindsay finds itself in rather an awkward position in the matter of sewage disposal. While it is undertaking to prevent sewage from entering the Scugog River from isolated sources, it is (and has been for months) virtually dumping all of its raw sewage into the river at a point just beyond the facility sewage disposal plant. This situation will continue to exist until sewage disposal facilities have been restored.

There is no sewer in the sewage disposal system embedded in the existing inoperative plant was never complete, nor was the town ever totally serviced in the life of the nearly half-million dollar system. Even the construction of the lagoons (treatment system now proposed) is not going to provide some sections of the town with sewage treatment service. This is a disheartening prospect in view of the cost involved and an money which has already "gone down the drain" in the effort to provide sewage disposal facilities at Lindsay.

Despite the fact that the Ontario Water Resources Commission has been named by council to build the proposed $350,000 lagoon-type plant, while the matter is currently before the Ontario Municipal Board, there is something unsatisfactory about the project. If, when completed, it still does not serve a large section of town and many people seriously question the wisdom of again getting into a patchwork system of sewage disposal. What, they ask and rightly so, is the use of spending all that money and still not serving all of the town?

The last effort to provide a sewage treatment plant resulted in the taxpayer "feeling the treatment". There are many who feel the one treatment is all they require.

MARVELOUS AS IT IS...

Marvellous as it is that both the East and the West have been able to put their heads in space and send their hurtling around the world at fantastic speeds, there are those who wonder if it is worth the price being paid. They wonder, too, if it is worth the world shouldn't get top priority.

Millions of dollars are blasted away every time one of these rockets or space shuttles are shot into space while at the very same time millions of people are hard put to make ends meet, taxes necessary to finance such missions not being an inconsequential factor in their struggle.

The rocket and arms race were being indulged by the great power is making a heavy drain on their subjects and multitudes of people are being reduced to the masses is viewed with extreme skepticism by many. It is something like being a spectator at a fireworks display—the show is splendid but when it's over, there's not much to see for the money spent.

It would be interesting to learn the results of a world poll on the question of whether or not the continuation of space experiments while there is so much unfinished business on earth?

VOLUNTARY BOARDS OR COMMITTEES?

Are you a member of a board or a committee of some voluntary organization? If you are, you will probably be interested in the following excerpt from the Monthly Letter of the Royal Bank of Canada which this month takes as its subject "The Volunteer In Our Society". It deals specifically with voluntary boards and committees and states, quote:

"Each of the work of voluntary organizations gets done by teams of people working on boards and committees.

"A good working group is not made up of people appointed because they have money, influence, or wealth, but because they are interested in working toward the good of the organization and do so with intelligence, energy and good will."

"Taking, even of the most earnest kind, is not the purpose of a committee. People may talk learnedly and with self-assurance about juvenile delinquency, but all the talk achieves nothing comparable to one

HEALTH AND WORKING LIFE

One of the most noticeable results of improved health and longevity in this century has been a large increase in the average length of working life.

Trends in Working-Life Expectancy
In 1900-2 a male baby in this country had a work-life expectancy of 31.1 years. But as health conditions improved steadily during the century, this figure rose by 1958 to the expectancy of working life was up to 42.8 years.

The increase in working-life expectancy is a corollary of the remarkable increase in life expectancy, i.e., the expectation of life from birth to death. Total-life expectancy for males rose from 47.9 years in 1900-2 to 68.4 in 1958, an increase of 20.5 years.

As another corollary, the increase in total-life expectancy has caused a rise in the expected number of years that will be spent outside the labor force. The expectation of non-working life was 16.8 years for male babies born in 1900-2 but 24.1 years under the 1958 life table (a rise of 7.3 years).

Part of the increase in years outside the labor force is accounted for by the later age at which young men today begin to work. In 1900 the estimated median age at entry to the labor force for males was about 15 years. But by April 1958 the corresponding median had risen to 17.4, or about 2.4 years.

Working-Life Expectancy of Women
With males, the expectation of working life for a woman has also risen steadily. According to the working-life table of 1900-2, a female baby had a working-life expectancy of 6.9 years. The comparable figure rose to 12.2 years in 1938-41, and 19.9 years in 1958.

The working-life expectancy of females in 1900-2 compared to 40 per cent of their total-life expectancy, but by 1958 this figure had risen to 27 per cent. The comparable proportion for males was much higher in 1900-2—44.9 per cent of their total-life expectancy.

For males, the rise in working-life expectancy between 1900-2 and 1958 was due entirely to improvements in mortality, and in fact occurred in spite of decreased labor force participation by women in the extremes of the working-life span. For females, however, although a substantial proportion of the rise was due to mortality improvements, the increase in labor force was the increase in female participation in the labor force. Thus at ages 15 and over women in the labor force in 1958 were 40 per cent higher than in 1900-2, increased markedly between 1900 and 1958, from 20 to 35.8 per cent.

THE ECONOMIC SCENE

The fact that Canada is facing serious problems can no longer be denied. Politically, the election of a minority government is an indication of uncertainty on the part of the electorate. Economically, the Prime Minister's announcement of immediate emergency action to cope with an increasing degree of uncertainty and instability in the financial markets' sounds a note of warning to all Canadians.

The Prime Minister's view that the Canadian economy is fundamentally strong and sound but it must be perfectly obvious now that the economic problems which are facing the Canadian Chamber of Commerce have been concerned for a long time must be met at once with the combined effort of all Canadians.

The signs of approaching economic difficulties have been plainly visible for a long time. It is all too troublesome to believe. In its submission to the Senate Special Committee on Manpower and Employment, in December 1960, the Executive Council of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, pointed to the need for increased productivity and demonstrated that the margin of profit for Canadian business would appear to be inadequate for the job which is necessary to keep abreast in the competitive race. Reference was made to increasing labour costs and to the fact that on a per capita basis, Canadian wealth is considerably less than the wealth of our neighbours to the south, indicating a need to exercise restraint regarding demands for increases in salaries and wages if we are to be able to produce at costs which will allow us to remain competitive. At that time, reference was made to the Chamber's policy that the burden of taxation to be lowered in Canada and that personal and corporate income tax rates are such as to discourage initiative. Attention was also drawn to the fact that there was a need to contain the aggregate spending of all levels of government.

A look at some relevant statistics will help to clarify the picture. In 1958 the Canadian Gross National Product per capita in constant dollars (1957) had a peak of $1,059. In 1961, this had actually declined to $1,139—evidence of a lack of real economic growth. While average hourly earnings in manufacturing rose from $1.04 in 1950 to $1.72 in 1959, profits of industry small action. The earnest committee will not pose, nor indulge in vain rhetoric, but will hasten to seek the most appropriate way of accomplishing its purpose. It will brush aside debate about procedure and get on to grapple with the pit of its reason for being; human necessities.

"The purpose of committees and meetings is this, one person rarely knows all the facts or all the angles. An exchange of opinions is necessary to spark new ideas. The conscientious member of a committee must study the problem so as to make his contribution worthy of consideration.

"Business men are particularly valuable on service boards and committees because of their habitual way of looking at things. They apply their experience so as to locate the problem, validate it as one affecting this group, set up research and collect information, consider all the various ways of solving the problem or meeting the situation, and reach a decision.

"They do not begrudge a minute of the time they spend in meetings of voluntary associations, but they do wish that the meetings were carefully planned and efficiently carried out."

Reports and Remarks...

Unlabeled costs in Canada declined from 5.1% (as against gross revenue) to 3% in 1959 (the last year for which such figures are available). Ottawa's budgetary expenditures have tripled since 1949 and Canada has had successive years of operating "in the red". The decline in profits has been reflected in a drop in the corporate outlets which reached a peak in 1959 and are now down some 15%.

Most of these things are a matter of record, and as the Chamber has pointed out many times, are indicative of an attempt to live beyond our means.

The economy of a country is subject to the same economic laws as the economy of a business or the economy of a family. If you live beyond your means you are in trouble.

THE MAKING OF STEEL WOOL

If you have ever wondered how ordinary steel wool was made, you might be surprised to learn it is literally "shaved" from steel wire.

Traveling at a rate of 350 feet per minute, a series of special low carbon steel wires, 1/8 inches in diameter, are passed through steel wool machines. These machines consist of successive units of angular cross blades between which the wire is directed by means of grooved guides. As the wire passes under the blade edges, small skeins of steel wool are shaved off.

These skeins are shaved off, these skeins are directed upward, where they are collected into a large skein by means of self-forming continuous belt of steel wool. The large skein then passes through a pair of pulleys which actually serve as the only means of traction for the skein conveyor system. Having passed through the rollers, the strands of steel wool are then taken to a pad of fine mesh where it is cut to length, rolled in padding and conveyed to an operation for packaging. Soap impregnated pads go through an identical operation except for the actual soap impregnation, which is done separately.

WHAT DOES THE PIONEMENT MATTER?

A correspondent recently criticized two sports articles appearing in this newspaper because, in each case, the central figure was identified as a Negro—in one instance, four times. What has man's color to do with his athletic (or off-field) activities? It was asked.

A good question. As a general rule, there is no more reason for a reporter to say a football or baseball player is a Negro than to explain that a holdup man is a Negro. All players come in all hues nowadays, and so do thieves. But occasionally identification is excusable. This was so when Jackie Robinson broke into major league baseball, the first of his race to do so. That soon ceased to be the practice as more and more Negro players appeared on the diamond. One of them pitched a no-hit game for the Boston Red Sox not long ago, but it was only from his photograph that any outside baseball fan would learn the color of his skin.

The case of Charlie Siford, runner for the Canadian open golf championship this year, perhaps warrants the descriptive label (though not four times in a single article), because first-class Negro professional golfers are still a comparatively rarity.

Rarity is really the test. Thus an American player for the National Hockey League may reasonably have his nationality referred to. Similarly with Sam Mikita, born in Czechoslovakia, or Bobby Thompson, the Glasgow Scot who 11 years ago had the most famous home run in history.

Fenelon Falls 1963 summer meeting

Fenelon Falls (PNS) — The "ragging of the hymn" "In Christ there is no East or West" emphasized the theme of the worship service conducted by Mrs. Carl Way at the summer meeting of the United Church of Canada held in the Lower Hall. The scripture was read by Mrs. A. McKee. Mrs. Money sang an appropriate solo and Mrs. Way read "The Colour of My Skin". Prayer by Mrs. R. Jones and the singing of a hymn concluded the devotion period.

Business matters were dealt with by the president, Mrs. Sharp and unit reports were received. A report was made of the purchase of needed appliances for the kitchen. The ladies were reminded of the school for leaders to be held in Whistler Ladies College.

Several ladies are planning to attend this worthwhile school. Mrs. John Colburn, literary secretary, reviewed briefly the study books, "The Rim of Asia" and "The Word and the Way" and suggested that the ladies familiarize themselves with some of the problems of Asia from the books which are now on hand.

Mrs. R. Jarvis, as summer visitor in the Fenelon area for a number of years delighted and inspired the meeting with her message.

Mrs. and Mrs. Graham McCallum and children are on a long camping tour eastward to Quebec where they intend to visit the Johnstons.

This is shaping up to be a fishy story day . . .

To start it off, Murray Weight's pictures of the long-moored Glen caught in the Ottawa River came along. The picture on the left gives some idea of the length of its moorings in relation to the rest of its body. On the right, the side of its loathsome moorings is emphasized by holding it open. Murray says the species is a survivor of the Dinosaur age. Although somewhat reduced in its body appearance, the fish is scaled and finned. Fishermen in the area said they had never seen a catch like it before.

A nine-year-old Lindsay girl is also making news with her luck as a fisherman. Mary Catherine Gendron, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cleary Gendron, made the catch of her holidays when she landed a 19½-pound muskie. She was and fairly representatives, in Ship House over a cup of tea charge of Mrs. Vesey.

Canada's Young Musicians Delight Symphonic World National Youth Orchestra in Summer Session

One hundred talented young musicians are spending their summer vacations hard at work with Canada's National Youth Orchestra. From across the nation they are assembling in Toronto for 10 days of rehearsal prior to giving concerts in Buffalo, New York (August 15), St. Catharines, Ontario (August 16), and at Stratford's summer festival (August 19). Now in its third year, the National Youth Orchestra Association of Canada was initiated in 1960 by Walter Susskind, internationally famous conductor, who had previous experience with Great Britain's National Youth Orchestra. To qualify, members must be between 14 and 25 years, have proven musical talent. Through the National Youth Orchestra, young Canadian musicians learn to play in a symphony orchestra under professional conditions, thus assuring a supply of first-class instrumentalists for tomorrow's national symphony orchestras. Already, after sparkling concerts in three past seasons, they have won the acclamation of music critics in Toronto, Montreal, Ottawa and Stratford, have learned to share their art under the baton's magic influence, have captured music lovers with their youthful, carefree and polished performances. Playing under such well-known conductors as Wilfrid Feller and Victor Feldt, they have demonstrated that young people can bring a refreshing breed of excitement and vitality to the sophisticated world of serious music, promise a bright future for Canada's symphony orchestras.

TOO OLD TO HAVE A BABY?
I receive many letters from anxious women from 25 to 45 who want a baby, but are afraid, either for themselves, or think that other parents are playing fair to the unborn child. A recent letter from Mrs. T. of Louisiana related she had a baby at 50 and lived to be a happy grandmother. Here is an interesting letter from Indiana:

Dear Dr. Steinhorn: You mother lived to be 84. Her first son when she and my father were living in the Officers Barracks near Boston during the Civil War. In 1862, I arrived when she was 17, lived on the scene here in Indianapolis while she was canning peaches the last week in August, she often said it came in a hurry! Mother called in a close neighbor to finish the peaches.

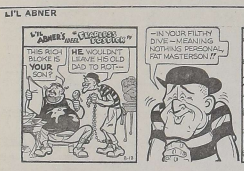

When I was 20 my daughter arrived in June and today she is a high school teacher and at 85 is still around and happy! My mother said that the babies who came late in a mother's life are the most intelligent ones.

Ex-inmate returns as a preacher

A man who once considered becoming a dope pusher this weekend returned to Kingston, Ontario Penitentiary and preached a sermon where he had once been an inmate.

Thirty-six-year-old Reverend Donald Whitehead yesterday told prisoners in the prison's Protestant chapel "I see some familiar faces. Some of you were here when I was... some of you are here again."

Whitehead told the men he was not trying to show them what success he had become... only what they could do themselves if they made the effort.

Whitehead credits the influence of a girl who is now the mother of his two children with helping him become a Baptist minister—despite only a grade four education when he went into prison on a six-year sentence in 1941. He was released four years later.

The happy couple will reside at R.R. 3, Woodville, Ontario.

Shower Prior to the marriage, the bride was given a kitchen shower at the home of Mrs. Ann McMilline of Lindsay. A miscellaneous shower was given by the Eden community and surrounding communities and both bride and groom received the many useful gifts.

MITRAL DISEASE

Dear Dr. Steinhorn: I have mitral heart disease, but what does that mean? Doctors just say I have to learn to live with it. What are some of the DO's and Don'ts?

Comment: I think it's important that you get a comprehensive explanation in your doctor's office. Every heart patient deserves that. In few conditions in medicine is complete cooperation more essential if the patient is to do well.

I'm sure he'll be glad to explain in detail. He knows how much damage there is to the mitral valve, how strong the heart muscle is, and whether you have active rheumatic infection - all these considerations are important in advising you how to live.

However, in a general way, you should know that the mitral valve is the one in the left side of the heart which ordinarily opens and closes the aperture between the left atrium and left ventricle. In normal valves, there is a tight fit - no leakage. But in rheumatic heart disease - a common complication of rheumatic fever - the mitral valve (as do others, sometimes) becomes inflamed. This lasts for weeks and months.

At last, as it heals, it develops the flaps of the valve become too narrow, close. Depending upon the type of involvement we call it mitral stenosis or mitral insufficiency or a combination of both. The doctor can make a diagnosis of mitral valve trouble when he lays on the stethoscope and listens to the type of heart murmur that comes through.

Many patient with mitral disease live to be quite old, but the outlook depends upon the amount of damage to the valve as well as to how much inflammation the rheumatic fever stirred up in the heart muscle itself. It is for these reasons and knowing these specific details - that I must pass over giving you detailed advice and leaving it to your doctor who can assess the efficiency of your heart.

Whether you need anticoagulants to prevent further attacks of a rheumatic fever will depend upon his judgment. You also need to know if your present job is all right for you; how much rest you need during the day, whether or not you can bowl, play golf or garden; whether you are too fat or too thin; whether your diet is all right; and if you need to change your way of life in other ways.

You see, just making the diagnosis of heart disease is not enough; the doctor and his patient should get together and unhurriedly discuss a battle plan to hold off any future attacks.

Dear Dr. Steinhorn: My mother is 88 years old. As she has a few little heart flairs during the past months, our doctor gave her some digitalis. A few days later, while watching TV after doing the dishes, she had a stroke which left her helpless on the left side of her body. I would like to know. Did taking the digitalis bring on the stroke? - Mrs. O. Comment: I doubt it. Many persons take digitalis without

Sunday School picnic

Mainly for Women

Glenora (PNS) - A splendid crowd of good friends and family members gathered at the happy time spent by the children of the Sunday School of the Presbyterian Church of Glenora. Glenora and parents and friends at their Annual Picnic held this year at Birch Point on the date chosen a number of years ago, the first Tuesday in August.

Games and bathing were enjoyed by the children and grown-ups until the supper hour and after the picnic tables had been cleared away the races were run first and under with Bobby Nesbitt, Jimmie MacMillan and Darlene MacMillan taking the prizes.

Age group 10 and under for girls. Peggy Gibson, Janice Nesbitt and Janis Campbell came in ahead of the other girls while in the same age group for boys, John and Allen Webster carried off the prizes.

From California to Connecticut, manufacturers have a wide range of new fashions and fancies to please the younger set. For the bobby crown, a product that's both attractive and practical. Its plastic panels can dress up bobby waves and make it easier for mother to part a cyclist. The V-shaped panels are in bright shades of new fashions, in colors, and are designed to place between the spokes of any standard wheel.

Abbie Topples

Latest fashions for teenage girls are bobby toppers, garter-bands of colorful woven bobby bands to wear around the leg at the top of the knee and bobby socks. The feature which dangling medallions which range from western cowboys and cowgirls to the Fleur-de-Lis on the leg means a girl is in the right light, no commitments.

Long Exposures

For the fun factor, it's a new ball molded from a special type of material that reportedly withstands long exposures to sunlight and outside air. Pro-moters say this is one beach ball that won't get rapidly and lose its elasticity.

Berthing Shift

An aid for left leaguers, the new balling shift, padded like a chest protector, but designed not to interfere with the batter's swing. Parents should go on the extra protection if given young baseball players, and youngsters will like the styling.

New Crazies

For the tots in the family - new crayons for bathtub art, are of colored cast stone. The crayons mark on paper like any others but can be used on the young artists' faces and on the walls, as both can be scrubbed off.

Beauty Tip

A creamy white lotion removes rough dry skin from feet, knees and elbows.

THE DOG PADDOLE

For years humans have been teaching tricks to dogs. Now it's the canine's turn. A Long Island beach club is employing an aqua pup named "Lady" to teach young swimmers a fundamental stroke - the dog paddle.

Lindsay foursome home after 8,000-mile trip

Four Lindsay residents have returned from an 8,000-mile motor trip which took them within 635 miles of Whitehorse, Yukon Territory. Mr. and Mrs. Harold MacMillan and Mr. and Mrs. Walter MacMillan were the two couples who left Lindsay and made the round trip in a month.

Going the travellers took the route north by way of Salt Ste. Marie, Duluth, Port Hope, Sarnia to Dawson Creek, B.C., and then the Yukon Territory, down the Fraser Valley to Victoria, B.C. At Victoria, Mr. and Mrs. Walter MacMillan visited at the home of their son, John who is an inspector on government boats.

The return trip was made across the southern portion of the prairie provinces and around the new highway on the north shore of Lake Superior and home by way of White Lake.

On the Alcan highway the travellers found the best driving.

The most impressive beauty of the trip was found along the highway on the northern shore of Lake Superior. The myriad small lakes and a variation of mixed bush was interspersed to make a scene never to be forgotten, the travellers remarked.

The extensive sand beaches along this shore of Superior were filled with campers and trailers in impressive numbers.

"But of all places visited we have decided we like Ontario best," Mrs. Harold MacMillan summed up.

Seedless flowers become living room rage

The recipe for making plastic flowers is simple. You start with polythene - then add equal quantities of color as warrens, nimble fingers and stamina. The Canadian chemist is supplying the polythene, but the Chinese people of Hong Kong are the designers. For in that faraway corner the ancient and tedious art of flower arranging has given way to flower making using modern production line techniques.

Polythene resin is shipped in granular form from Canada to this British crown colony. After arrival, the granules are melted blended with pigments to give them color, then they are injected into moulding machines where heat and pressure reduce the mixture into a pliable plastic and force it into a hollow steel die. After a brief cooling period the die is ejected and the moulded part is removed. These parts in the shape of petals, leaves and stems, are then assembled by hand. That's why quick, fine fingers are needed.

The blossoms are put together first - petals by petals - and then the centre of the flower is applied which provides the tension to hold the petals upright. They are then added to the stem, along with the leaves, and the complete flower is packed for shipping.

Some flowers take longer than others, a hyacinth for instance may have up to 180 parts. It is not as complicated as it looks, a hybrid of plastic and wire, but the cost of such painstaking work would be too high in this country.

Physical agility is important too. Some moulding machines are hand operated. If so, the injection cylinder is operated by a long lever which is wedged at the base of the flower in a coiled spring into the air and pulling down on it. He holds it down during the cooling.

ing cycle... then let it go. These cooties are aptly called 'jumpers'.

Initially, flower making has been an occupation of the Orient for centuries, and in the beginning paper and cloth were the materials used. But the market for these products was limited because of their perishable nature. There were no signs of it becoming a big business until 5 years ago when they first started to make moulded flowers, using polythene. Because of the texture and life-like appearance of the moulded flowers and plants, they were an immediate success. Markets for them opened up throughout the world, because they were easy to pack and ship. Today more than 400 companies are making flowers in Hong Kong, employing many thousands of people.

What's ahead for this novel industry? Well, from lessons learned while producing household and industrial decorative plants, the industry is starting to "branch" out. Production has started on Christmas trees. But instead of assembling the boughs at the time they are moulded, the tree is assembled after it's made. It's not always friendly to grow, the growing popularity of plastic trees is good news for the plastic industry companies too.

While the natural habitat for artificial flowers and foliage is usually the living room or hotel lobby, a change is in prospect. Nature is not always friendly to grow, the growing popularity of plastic trees is good news for the plastic industry companies too. While the natural habitat for artificial flowers and foliage is usually the living room or hotel lobby, a change is in prospect. ## Control of late blight

One of the most destructive potato diseases is late blight. This disease attacks the leaves, causing them to rot, with resultant reduction in yield. In fact, it may also later cause rotting of the tubers. Since late blight develops and spreads rapidly in warm damp weather, the Field Crops Branch of Ontario Department of Agriculture, points out that the only control measure - and a measure that must be taken in ample time to control the disease - is the proper use of fungicides. This involves covering the potato plant with a protective layer to prevent night spores from development. Certain varieties are resistant to some strains of blight, but none are immune to the disease. As a result, spraying and dusting is necessary.

The most commonly used materials are the organic compounds which give good control, if properly applied every seven to ten days. Bordeaux is still popular and gives excellent control of blight.

Potato growers who want assistance in this matter of blight control should get in touch with their local agricultural representative or with their nearest office of the Ontario Department of Agriculture on spraying and dusting which will result in the control of late blight and the protection of their potato crop is available.

Call attention to situation at Lindsay

Septic tanks and poor sewage disposal systems are considered major means of spreading infectious hepatitis a virus causing a serious inflammation of the liver. This was the statement of Dr. E.W.R. Best chief of the epidemiology division of the Health and Welfare Department. The outbreak of infectious hepatitis described at which the former police chief seems to be still rising. According to government figures, to the end of July 1968 cases were reported in Canada compared with 6,654 in 1961. A committee of the Dominion Council of Health in Toronto reported 2,537 of these cases were in Ontario. Last year there was a total of 12,381 cases in the country compared with 8,314 in 1960. Dr. Best said nobody appears immune from the virus of hepatitis and although some cases were mild, a large number of those infected became seriously ill. Hard to handle contact is also considered a major means of spreading the disease, he said.

equipment. However, warns Hal Wright, Farm Safety Specialist with the Ontario Department of Agriculture, Ontario farmers lost fingers in 1960. These accidents resulted in a loss of 300 days of work and a medical cost of $2,200. With most off machines, the auger does an excellent job when handled safely.

Fredrick T. Webster passed away suddenly at his home on August 14, 1962. Mr. Webster had been in the Red Cross out-patient hospital for the past two weeks and was only home one day when he passed on.

The late Mr. Webster was a surveyor for many years but had retired on account of ill health. He was in his 70th year. He was very popular in the community where he lived and among his business associates.

Mr. and Mrs. Webster came to Hamilton from Ajax about 12 years ago. He loved his home on the shore of Kashiagawana where he enjoyed the beauties of the Highlands. The deceased resided at the John Welch and Son Funeral Home in Minden until August 17th, when a funeral service was conducted by Rev. Charles St. George's Anglican Church.

Field Bindweed

This weed, commonly known as field bindweed, will morning glory or creeping Jenny, is a perennial reproducing by seeds and creeping under ground roots, according to the Field Crops Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

There are about 200 species of bindweed that can be mistaken for bindweed. In Ontario field bindweed infests cultivated crops, pastures, fields and waste places. The leaves vary in size and shape, but are usually arrow-shaped with smooth edges. Flowers that appear from June to September are mostly yellow, shaped one inch or less in diameter. The white or slightly pink and funnel-shaped flower is very picturesque due to the causal observer but the farmer, it is distressing because he realizes that the presence of bindweed on his farm makes it necessary for very intensive control measures.

For further information see Ontario Department of Agriculture Publication No. 75, "Field Bindweed Control" available from your local Agricultural Representative.

STOP!... killing yourself

WANTS DEATH TIP

Dear Dr. Steinhorn: You must wonder whether or not your advice has been acted upon and what were the results. After my letter last year, you suggested in your column that I had better see a gynecologist and I did. He performed a hysterectomy and removed one ovary. It was a benign tumor of the uterus called a fibroid. He said he had more pain and the irregular bleeding has stopped. I am going to pose on your kindness with another problem. I've been having very dry skin, brittle nails and very putty eyes. In addition, I'm quite tired and feel slowed up. Any suggestions will be welcome and I hope they turn out as valuable as in the first instance. Mrs. G.

Comment: Here's hoping that as suggested the first time, your own doctor will have to make the diagnosis. I suspected a fibroid, but it was only a guess.

Now for another try: when I ever a patient enumerates the symptoms you have, I would want to know if the thyroid is underactive. As a reader of this column you undoubtedly know that a physical examination—both a physical examination—will either make or rule out the diagnosis. If you do have a hypothyroidism (underactive thyroid) your doctor will probably prescribe thyroid extract to overcome the tiredness, putty eyes and all the rest.

POODLES AND ASTHMA

Dear Dr. Steinhorn: As a regular reader of your column, I must tell you that I disagree with the lady who wrote you saying that poodles are the answer to the asthma problem in youngsters who want dogs for pets. That has not been my experience. I have poodles and my neighbor's boy gets inside my door, and her eyes and nose begin to run. I hate to turn her out. She has a poodle, too, or all right because of a visit with me. She seldom even comes to my door now. French poodles are adorable pets but I hope people won't begin to spread the word that they solve the allergy problem for some patients. Allergic pet-lovers may be disappointed after buying one. Mrs. T. Comment: From now on I'd better ease this difference of opinion to but store owners, veterinarians, and the patients themselves. So far I have struck out with Chihuahuas and poodles. Now I am helpless to suggest any breed of dog or cat that is harmless to patients susceptible to dog or cat dander.

Dear Dr. Steinhorn: My daughter has a young infant. She gives him his formula directly from the refrigerator without any warnings. The baby seems healthy and finishes his formula. Her doctor says it's all right. Do you agree with this method of feeding?—Mrs. M.

Comment: I recall that I wrote a few years ago in which I quoted a pediatrician who had made a study of this problem. His conclusion: it

It isn't actually necessary to warn the baby's milk. I realize that this isn't the accepted opinion by most mothers; yet if your baby's doctor recommends it, and you have confidence in him, why not follow his methods?

Staples family descendants hold memorial, dezoration service

Bethany (PNS) The descendants of the Thomas Staples Family held a Memorial and Dezoration service at St. John's Church and Cemetery, Lindsay, Ont., recently.

This service was in remembrance of Thomas Staples who was born in Wexford County, Ireland in 1748 and died in Canada in 1823 and was buried in St. John's Anglican Cemetery, Thomas Staples and his wife Jane Bell had a family of ten children — John, Thomas, Samuel, Ann, Mrs. James Carr, Sarah, Mrs. Thomas Cook, James, Elizabeth who married Richard Kidd, first, Richard Smith, second, Mary (Mrs. Samuel) Grand, Richard, Jane (Mrs. Wm. Swan).

As far as can be ascertained the first member of the family to come to Canada was James, who came out in 1817, a carpenter by trade. His good friend, the country's first settler, John Bell, who had married his brother Richard and his wife and family the following year, had married his brother-in-law William Swain and his wife and family and came two settled on the farm to the north of Richard, lot 14 in the 10th. con. of Cavan township, Durham County.

In 1822 John, the oldest brother, came out with his wife and several children. John first bought lot 5 in the 9th. con. but only lived there a few months when he bought the farm to the north of Richard, lot 14 in the 10th. con. of Cavan. In the spring of 1823 Thomas and the rest of his children and grandchildren, 41 in number, arrived and settled mostly in Cavan. During the voyage over, Thomas' wife, Jane Bell died at sea. Samuel, the third son, settled some where near Baltimore where James had a farm. However, some years later he moved to Leaskard in Clark township with his seven boys and one daughter. Thomas had ten children and 73 grandchildren who have spread out over a success.

RAILWAY CROSSINGS ARE STILL POINTS OF GREAT DANGER

There are two interesting traffic signs on Highways 7-12, one at Myrtle and the other at Blackwater. These signs are the prescribed speed limit from their point of origin to the crossing. They are a stone's throw along the road at 45 miles per hour. True, the crossings have wye type signals but even so, does this warrant setting up a limit at three-quarters of a mile per minute?

The morning's news carries an item from Delhi, telling of the decapitation of a father and his daughter who were killed by a New York Central Railroad freight train at a level crossing just that southwestern Ontario town. In this case the crossing had no warning lights or bells and is designated only by a sign.

Reading the article, we couldn't help but wonder if there were perhaps two signs in the vicinity of the crossing—one indicating the crossing and another, put up by the highway department, a short distance beyond the crossing sign, prescribing a speed limit of 45 miles per hour. Perhaps there wasn't but we suggest that a crossing advance notice sign be placed at Myrtle or Blackwater, the 45 m.p.h. signs existing but could hardly be ruled out as contributing factors even if the crossings have warning lights and bells. All the crossings. Both of these crossings are on curves and at the bottom of inclines.

Although passenger traffic over lines in the area is reduced, this doesn't preclude freight trains which are just as deadly and don't stick to regular schedules. They move when the cargo warrants it.

Forty-five miles per hour at the approach to a rail crossing 20 or 25 is still safe.

AUGUST 29, 1912

The other day a student of the south ward went to her hen house in the morning and found that five of the fattest hens of the flock had been murdered. No clue of the perpetrator of the deed has been found. Of late thieves have been making their rounds down back streets and taverns and hen houses about the town so that they are securely locked. Always in the fall of the year the chicken thief makes his raids on the feathered flocks and picks out the choicest birds.

Serum for the combating of Infantile Paralysis a disease which is spreading terror in many Ontario cities at the present time, was obtained in Lindsay recently when persons who in recent years have recovered from this disease offered serum at the Rose Memorial Hospital. A report from Woodville stated that eight persons all of whom had the disease in the late epidemic there some years ago were in Lindsay to donate their blood to the fight against the disease. All the Woodville young donors are in good physical condition at the present time it is reported. It is also reported that a number from Lindsay, who have contracted the disease in the past, donated blood. A special officer from the Department of Health was down for this taking of serum and it will be used to distribute from Toronto throughout the province whenever reports of the disease are reported. Lindsay has been fortunate this year in that no cases have been reported.

CALORIE COUNTERS

TAKE HEART

Counting calories? Almost everyone does these days and for some, it is a wise idea. However, foods and nutrition experts at Macdonald's Institute (Guelph) recommend that before embarking on a weight loss campaign, you consult a dietitian. Only he can properly prescribe your correct calorie intake.

Weight watchers need to eliminate all their favorite foods. One dish commonly thought to be fattening is Potato Salad. The truth is that the dressing, not the potato, is the culprit. 1/4 cup heart, though, for here is a homemade dressing with only 20 calories per tablespoon. 2 tablespoons flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup mustard, 1 teaspoon salt, dash of cayenne, 1 cup milk, 1/2 cup slightly beaten, 1 tablespoon salad oil, 1/2 cup vinegar.

Mix dry ingredients in the top of a double boiler. Gradually stir in the milk. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly until mixture begins to thicken.

In Memoriam

JONES - In loving memory of a husband and father, A Edgar Jones, who passed away August 14, 1992. It's not the words, they are but few, I wish to tell you my love. CROWE - In loving memory of my husband and father, Robert Francis Crowe, who passed away Aug. 27, 1991. Memories are treasures No one can steal. Death is a heartache nothing can heal. And only God knows why. — Ever remembered by the family. (24109)

Percy H. Sproule

The many friends and relatives of Percy Hugh Sproule were deeply shocked at his passing on Sunday, August 12, 1992 at the Ross Memorial Hospital, Lindsay, following a long illness. He was in his 62nd year.

Born at Cannington, the deceased was the son of Robert and Henrietta Sproule. He was educated at Sproule's School and Cannington High School. In 1927, he was married to Anna Tretheway, of Woodville, and for a time was engaged in farming. Always a lover of horses, he owned and exhibited prize-winning Clydesdales. During the last few years he was the owner of race horses. He was an employee of Canadian Airlines, Lindsay, for over 15 years.

Left to mourn his passing besides his wife is one son Vernon, of Lindsay and two grandchildren, David and Judy, four brothers, Grant of Ansonville, Gene, of London, Cliff of Buffalo and Leo, of Toronto, two sisters, Mabel of Ansonville and Mildred Mrs. (Hannah), of Toronto. He was predeceased by Kathleen (Mrs. W. Redditt) of Kewaskiw and Ethel and George.

The funeral was held from the Stoddart Funeral Home on Wednesday, August 15th, with interment at Oakdale Cemetery, Cannington. Rev. R. K. McLean of Cambridge St. United Church conducted the service.

The pallbearers were Brock Sproule, Phil Francis, both of Cannington; Grant Redditt, of Midland; Jimmy Patrick, of Toronto; Jess Short and Ewart Rogers, of Lindsay. Friends from Buffalo, Toronto, London, Bradford, Peterborough, Ansonville, Midland, Coburn and surrounding communities attended the funeral.

The Soviet Union proposed today that all nuclear tests be halted, pending agreement on a foolproof non-test ban treaty. Soviet Deputy Minister-Kommunist of the General Secretariat Conference Russia is prepared to sign a non on testing in outer space, the atmosphere, and underwater, with underground tests halted, "... as he put it "... under an understanding that would remain in force until such time as a permanent solution is arrived at."

THE OLD OFFER
Western sources turned the plan merely the old Soviet offer of an uncontested moratorium and said it was unacceptable. There was some disagreement over when Khrushchev proposed that the moratorium take effect. A Soviet spokesman denied that he mentioned any specific date. But several Western delegates said he suggested the halting of all tests November 1st.

ADMIT FIRING BULLETS
The East German Communists admit they fired the bullets that normally wounded an 18-year-old would be refugee at the Berlin wall August 17th. Rockwell is headed by plane for Boston after being termed an "undesirable" by the management of the hotel where he was staying. He arrived in Canada last night—saying he was in transit on his way home from an unnamed European country.

U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk said today that the foreign aid efforts of other world nations—including Canada — are getting almost as big as the American one. Rusk told the U.S. Congress that this must be of great concern to Russia's Premier Khrushchev in this economic drive. Canada's total foreign aid bill from the end of World War Two has been estimated at more than four-and-a-half billion dollars.

Parade Sports &amp; FORCES DOUBLEHEADERS

Main at New York and Boston last night has forced a pair of American doubleheaders today, Cleveland wins the Yankees and Boston plays the Red Sox in afternoon twin-bills. After dark, it's Baltimore at Washington... Minnesota at Chicago White Sox... and Los Angeles Angels at Kansas City, Milwaukee at San Francisco in the West National League day game. At night, New York Mets at Philadelphia... Chicago Cubs at Pittsburgh... Houston at St. Louis... Cleveland at Los Angeles Dodgers.

RETAINS LEAD WITH 8-1 WIN

National League Leader Los Angeles retained its first one-half game lead over second place San Francisco with an 8-1 win over Cincinnati last night. The third place Reds dropped five and one-half games back. San Francisco beat Milwaukee 4-1... Houston trimmed St. Louis, 4-2... And Pittsburgh skated the Chicago Cubs, 7-6. The New York Mets held Cincinnati at Los Angeles Dodgers, 10-0... Boston, Other baseball, briefly—The team physician says that Dodger star Sandy Koufax will be able to pitch in relief in about 10 days. Koufax has been sidelined with a blood circulation disorder which has caused his finger on his pitching hand to go numb... Mets pitcher Ken McKenzie is hospitalized in Philadelphia with a back ailment which may sideline him for two or three weeks. Another New York hurler Roger Craig could not make the Philadelphia trip because of a sore back. Philadelphians outfielder Tony Gonzalez has been admitted to Temple University Hospital for observation and treatment of a back ailment. Gonzalez has been out of the lineup for a week with an injured elbow.

INVESTIGATE

Montreal police are investigating the use of pep pills by athletes after an autopsy disclosed yesterday that a Three Rivers, Quebec brawler died from an overdose of pills. Dr. Rosario Fontaine—a Quebec Provincial Medical-Legal Expert ruled that Robert Maerle died from "abuse nervous, hyperthermia insolation and overexertion." Maerle went into convulsions toward the end of a football game at Laval near Montreal Sunday and died in hospital Monday.

UNOFFICIAL FAVORITE

"A.C.S. Vikings" is the unofficial favorite for today's 87th running of the Hamletonian Handicap Race. Claret at Dr. Quinn, Illinois. Nine colts, five colts and one gelding will be in the field of 15. Observers feel that it will take three or four hours to decide the winner in the "Kentucky Derby of harness racing." The weatherman forecasts possible showers, but a record crowd of more than 40-thousand is expected at the Dr. Quinn State Fair.

LEADS TWO WINNERS

Defending champion Anne Quast Decker leads two other former winners into the third round of the Women's Amateur Golf championship at Rochester, New York. Mrs. Dacker, who ousted Margie Burns yesterday, faces Mrs. Jean Trainor in today's third round. Also advancing were former winners Barbara McIntyre and Joanne Gunderson. Top casualties include former Wimbledon tennis star Althea Gibson, 1948 champion Grace Lenzovak Smith, and British Davis Cupper Ann Lesley Irwin.

18 QUALIFYING MATCHES

Eighteen qualifying matches are slated for today and tomorrow to trim the men's field for the National Singles Tennis championships which begin at Forest Hills, New York, on Friday. The Men's Division must be cut to 128 for the tournament proper. Rod Laver and Margaret Smith are top-seeded in their respective divisions.

Bethany Fire Fighters Assoc. seeks briefing on petitions

Bethany (PNS) — Renewed interest in being shown in the establishment of fire protection for Manvers Township. The Bethany Fire Fighters Association held a meeting at the home of President Vincent Jackson to review the matter.

It was found there is very good fire fighting equipment in Bethany village, a portable pump, hose, ladders, etc., but no fire fighting brigade.

It was pointed out that in 1960 a petition was presented to Manvers council from a majority of citizens asking that the township be granted fire protection and that it enter a mutual aid plan with suitable equipment. This was counteracted by a second petition

Reeve Henry Jakeman at fire, the calls will still be received by the operators at the home and was instructed to central telephone office, which find out from the Township will in turn call Neal's Clerk, council's stand as to the Garage. Mr. Neal volunteered two petitions and if they had checked the present equipment procured legal advice on same, and will be in charge of conveying the portable pump in council meeting. It was also decided to purchase additional hose, that in case of fire.

NOTICED . . along the way

These are the first big fish pictures of the season to come this way and they're a 'first' all the way 'round. The top picture shows Alan Pendergast of 1560 Troutview Ave. Port Credit, holding the big pink muskie he ever caught and he was fishing for the first time in Sturgeon Lake waters. Staying at Thurstonia Lodge, he landed the 22-pound, 40-inch long hodge while trolling off Thurstonia Park. The fish gave him a 15-minute battle and cleared it by about ten feet. He was using a Williams steel spoon and got his big strike around 10:15 Wednesday morning. In the picture below, the fish is seen at Langdon's butcher shop where it was being placed in cold storage.

Toilet bowls hard hit

Thirteen and 24 cracked and chipped toilet bowls, as reported by the management committee, were found to be as serious by chairman R. I. Moore at the RAMH board meeting.

"The manufacturers say this damage is due to the rough usage in the hospital. We don't think there is that much misuse in this sort of line. We are inclined to think the architects are at fault," said the chairman.

Board member A. W. Carver: "They tell me you can't fix toilet bowls."

Chairman Moore: "I suggest we write the architect. It looks like something is faulty with the line. We are inclined to think the architects are at fault," said the chairman.

Members agreed that this damage is due to the rough usage in the hospital. We don't think there is that much misuse in this sort of line. We are inclined to think the architects are at fault," said the chairman.

Not all patients foreign under the hospital's wings

Kingham-Blackburn Nuptials OHSC rules some types not covered

The Ross Memorial Hospital Board decided Thursday night to clarify the controversial subject as to which patients have advised chronically ill persons are covered under Ontario Hospital Insurance and which are not.

The Ontario Hospital Service Commission, starting to make a check on hospital patients, has advised chronically ill persons are covered under Ontario Hospital Insurance and which are not.

To educate the general public on this matter a OHSC release was approved by the board and reads:

"A chronically ill person is one who is skilled nursing care, regular medical attention and the special facilities of a hospital or similar institution, one in whom treatment is expected to bring about improvement in function and a possible return to self-care; one who requires special nursing techniques, trys, special dressings, IV therapy, indwelling catheters and irrigations, etc., one whose condition is unstable or subject to progressive diabetes, mellitus, myocardial insufficiency (recurrent pulmonary disease), one who has an incurable disease — terminal cancer, disseminated sclerosis, advanced Parkinson's disease, kidney disease, etc."

"These patients may be cared for in a nursing home (approved for payment by the OHSC), in a hospital, or in a chronic care unit of a general hospital or a private hospital."

"Persons who are not domiciliary patients are one who needs little or no medical attention and does not require the elaborate facilities of a recognized hospital; one who is frequently unable to look after their normal daily needs and may require assistance in dressing, taking medicine, being helped from bed to chair, etc., and needs considerable nursing care of a simple type, one who might be said to require the intimate care of old age or the debilitating effects of chronic conditions."

"These cases may be adequately looked after in their own home, with relatives, in a nursing home (not approved for a payment by the OHSC) or a home for the aged."

Board Chairman Col. R. I. Moore pointed out physicians and hospitals are obligated to accept all patients in their mind when it comes to deciding which kind of accommodation or care the patient needs."

LAKE ERIE BOAT RACE

Lindsay lads paddle their way from Lindsay to Barrie

Some people are left to "paddle their own canoe" involuntarily, but two athletes from Lindsay, Brian Tyver, and Bruce Frederick took the saying literally and did just that, doing 120 miles in just under five days.

Leaving Lindsay early last Tuesday morning, the two boys, loaded down with all the necessary gear, including a canoe, a tent, food, flashlight, and other assorted articles, started on their 140-foot canoe and set off for Barrie.

"We informed many of our friends of our decision," said Bruce, "but received only a lot of blank looks, apparently they had had little faith in our project."

Parents of both the boys agreed to the start-off but were doubtful at to how far they would get.

The boys fooled them all and arrived safe and sound Saturday afternoon.

Relating their experiences to "The Post" they told of hitting a strong wind after reaching Sturgeon Lake and pulling into a cabin rest.

The next morning a stop was made at Freeton Falls, and in the afternoon, they were on Cameron Lake.

Crossing the lake, almost five miles in width, they entered Balsam Lake, going on to the Kirkfield Locks.

Thursday afternoon took them through the canal and Lake Simcoe sometime in the evening.

This stop was to be the highlight of the trip, as the thinking of the place where they had stopped, to be a ledge, the canoe was tied up, and the boys prepared for a well earned rest, when suddenly cries of "Men Men" were heard from every side and out came a gang of girls' related Brian.

The boys had inadvertently stopped in on the Glenora Presbyterian Camp, and it was the first time in "camp" for the girls.

They slept "outside that night, at the request of the girls, who felt the girls might get a bit too enthusiastic."

In their last leg of the journey across Simcoe, difficulty was encountered when four foot waves were logged their portable rack for a few hours and dumped about six inches of water in the canoe.

Watts Marina in Aberley was the last "overnight stop" before reaching Barrie, the boys put it, "awful, tired, and sunburned."

Looking back over the trip, they agreed it was "wonderful."

They intend to take in the C.N.E. and will return with their parents this coming Monday.

A Lindsay family of five moved to Kansas through 13 states of the U.S.A. and as far south as Tennessee within a week.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Skitch and children, Eric and Sheryl, had the experience of seeing the cotton crop in bloom in Mississippi and brought home a bouquet of cotton bolls as they were just leaving their white matrimony.

From Tennessee and Mississippi the travellers went on to the Ozark Mountains and found the scenery much like Haliburton but the temperature 102 degrees. The humidity was low and arid, cottoning made the high temperature bearable. To top it off, the southern hospitality was a four-star rating while the weather was in the area.

Here for Championships Tiny Japanese softball more like doll than athlete

A tiny Japanese girl is visiting from Canada and the United States to play softball. She is Tommy Mae, a starter for the World Softball Championships game that opened last week in the Stratford Sports Centre. Tommy and her 11 teammates will be playing against Seattle and the first game will be on all restaurant menus in America.

Miss Mae reportedly has a willow-like body and she has had trouble trying to figure it out. She says her softball is "like a strong, hard underhand toss" - no gimmicks. Despite her softball skill, this pint-size Japanese pitcher says she has no plans to be a coach or professional. In her home, "I plan to marry and have a family."

Lindsay man delighted with western trip

Mr. George Parkin, 38, of St. Street, arrived home on Wednesday, after a delightful seven weeks visit in Western Canada. "I enjoyed every minute of it and everybody extended every hospitality one could wish," Mr. Parkin said. "Traveling by air from Toronto International Airport to Calgary, his comments were: 'Yes, it was my first experience and it was delightful but I didn't see anything because of the height at which we were travelling. The sun was shining but shining on a wall of snow, as it were, being so high, and I was unable to see anything.'"

Calgary was his first stop. The main aim was to see the Stampede. "Along with his brother-in-law and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Wainwright, they were thousands and thousands of people just everywhere on footpaths to the ever available fold through land that is dotted and is meant straining otherwise useless one's neck to get even a glimpse."

In reply to the question as to how the Stampede came to be called "The Post" if he at Pilot Mound and Mr. Parkin saw the Lindsay Knickerman Band played back through North. Mr. Parkin was in Ontario with them after he was disappointed at not hearing the music as they passed way from Sudbury south to the city. "The Stampede was marvellous and of course they expected it."

STOP!... killing yourself

By Peter J. Steiner, M.D., F.A.C.P.

IT TAKES TWO TO MAKE A THREE

Dear Dr. Steiner: I come to you as a last resort. Perhaps if my husband reads it in your column, he will agree that the man can sometimes be the cause of the failure to have children. I've done my best because I want so much to have a baby. The doctor said "I'm all right. Now he suggests that my husband be examined. But he refuses. There's nothing wrong with me," he said. What are your thoughts on the subject? — Mrs. T.

Comment: Not so many years ago the finger invariably pointed at the woman when a marriage was barren. I recall scores of childless couples who came for advice. I used to refer them to a gynecologist or an obstetrician for a "Rubin test" to check on whether or not the tubes were open. If they were closed off and could not be opened that way, they were rarely considered that the having pain in my chest when husband might be the one at I walk too fast and when I get faint, too. Especially if nothing in the wife's examination is a dead deer than heavy indicated the reason for in-labor.

Will the chest pains always be with me, or will they disappear in time? I am 46—

Comment: I would need more than your age, Mr. H., to make a diagnosis. And even that would be hazardous without an examination. Although with your history, I immediately think of the possibility of angina as a cause of your chest pain, that is only a guess. Nevertheless, it is important that you ask your doctor for the specific diagnosis. Is it or isn't angina pectoris the cause of your chest pain? Such a diagnosis should be made before we have ways of determining it.

If the resting electrocardiogram don't show coronary disease, then your doctor may discover changes after the "treadmill" ECG. In many cases I had made the diagnosis of angina in patients who had no electrocardiographic changes at all. A careful his-tory-taking made the diagnosis.

Let's suppose it is angina pectoris. In answer to your

Are you living with your nerves? Are you normal-weighted? How is your cholesterol level? How is your blood pressure? What is your family history? What is your family history of coronary disease? If all these are favorable, it is a possibility because of collateral circulation—the formation of new blood vessels—that the pains will disappear.

One-dish meals become ever-popular addition

One-dish meals have become a popular addition to busy homemakers' menus. They avoid most dining tables at least one week, yet they don't necessarily have to be of the piping hot and hearty variety. One of our summer time favorites is this shrimp 'n rice tossed salad — a meal-in-a-dish that's a flavorful combination of juicy rice, chunks of pink shrimp, peas, celery and seasonings.

Most important it's cool to eat and cool to prepare, for this is a meal you can fix on top of your range. Just gather the ingredients and cook — then toss with a light and lively creamy salad dressing that makes this a truly refreshing treat. Chill and serve with crusty bread, a garden fresh vegetable or fruit bowl and frosty glasses of cold beer.

For those really hot days when everyone feels just too uncomfortable to eat, this is the dish you'll use to tempt their appetites and raise their spirits.

Harvest in full swing combines hard pressed

Harvest operations in the rural areas are well along and the yields will be good in spite of the dry weather, owing to the heavy rains during the middle of July.

Agricultural representative B. Brown told "The Post" that the crop in some regions, but the late crops are yielding heavy, and record crops are being harvested throughout the province.

Farmers are working round the clock to harvest as much as possible, he said, and combines are being hard pressed to keep up with the demand.

Pastures have improved which have proved a boon to many farmers who up until July had been feeding hay to bring up their milk production.

Many of the streams are low normal, and in the Woodville area, considered the driest to be affected by lack of rain.
